NIMITZ HINTS END OF ACTION ON OKINAWA Great Fires Raging in Kobe after Record Raid

10 Superforts if Heaviest low at City

ght Bombers Lost in Ter- rific Attack on Large Port

By ROBBIN COONS
HONOLULU, Wednesday, June 6 (AP)—
The first attack on the city of Okinawa after approximately 450 Superfortresses struck their heaviest blow at this sixth city and largest of Japan at a cost of eight bombers.

The bomber losses—less than half of the total of nineteen shot down over Tokyo in the big fire of May 29—were announced Wednesday by the Twentieth Air Force, which said results of the raid were excellent.

Japs Change Tune
The Japanese agency Domei, which had claimed fifty-six of the 29's were shot down, was heard nitting six hours after the last bomber turned for home that the losses were only then "gradually being ascertained."

Three thousand tons of fire bombs rained on a square mile area east of the city, embracing the vast steel works, near a nine-square-mile area laid in ashes by other raids in February and March.

The big bombers resolutely pressed on their attacks despite the worst of the Japanese and the weather did offer.

Heavy and accurate anti-aircraft fire greeted the bombers as they descended from the banks of thunderbolts and fog into the fair skies over Kobe, 250 miles southwest of Tokyo.

At least forty aggressive Japanese fighter planes came barreling to meet them, and by enemy count some crashed into the Superfortresses in suicidal attacks.

Cruise for an Hour
But for all the opposition, the superfortresses cruised the skies over Kobe for an hour, dumping their incendiary loads on the steel works, main railway stations, shipyards and docks.

The weather was too bad for fighter escort to make the trip, and a returning navigator said the bombs knocked out all his instruments, forcing him to reach the target by dead reckoning.

Pilots said the results were excellent. Visibility was good and they did watch their incendiaries go down and flames mushroom out.

"It looked like the smoke was so thick it was pushing the clouds up," one bombardier said.

Rich New York Man Murdered in His Hotel

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—A hemping, black Pekinese today appeared to be the only witness to the killing of wealthy Alfred E.
Engel, 63, as police said efforts to solve the Park avenue slaying so far had been fruitless.

With the shooting almost twenty-four hours old, police said they only had fragmentary clues, there were no suspects and no motive had been established for the crime.

Shot in Hotel
Langford, a tall, gray-haired texas executive, was shot in the head last night in the hallway of his suite in the Hotel Marguerite, home of many social and theatrical figures.
His body, sprawled across the hallway floor of the six-room apartment, was found by his wife, Florence, 70, art patroness and one-time fiancée of Movie Actor Carole Hackett.

Mrs. Langford, who before her marriage to Langford three years ago, was Mrs. Robert Grimes, told police she did not hear any shots, though she was in a nearby bedroom. Police theorized that possibly a slayer was used.

Compromise Is Offered by VFW On Draft Plans

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—A compromise peacetime draft program was presented to Congress today as the two major ex-service men's organizations endorsed the principle of universal military training.

Offered by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in an apparent attempt to remove strong opposition from educational and religious groups, the compromise calls for compulsory military training of able-bodied youths in home environment in such a manner as to minimize disruption of education and normal home life.

VFW Plan Outlined Outlined to the House Postwar Military Policy committee by Omar
B. Ketchum, national legislative representative, the VFW plan would require every youth, at a predetermined age, to become a member of a national guard or naval or marine reserve unit, to participate in weekly drills at local armories and to take two weeks of intensive training every summer for the three-year enlistment period.

The youths could not be used in civil emergencies, such as strikes.
Ketchum, who said his organization represented more than 500,000 servicemen of the present war, emphasized that the VFW would not oppose a straightaway one-year training program as advocated by the American Legion, if the VFW plan was rejected.

Favors Preparedness
"The Veterans of Foreign Wars states emphatically that it is preparedness to maintain peace by force of arms if necessary," he told the committee headed by Representative Woodrum (D-Va.).

Von Ribbentrop May Be Hiding in London

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Ace army investigators were reported on the alert tonight against the possibility that Joachim von Ribbentrop, former German foreign minister and last of the top Nazis still at large, might be escaping detection in London's crowded streets.

Although there was no official confirmation of this report, a responsible source said that the army intelligence division had been cautioned that disguised von Ribbentrop might be walking the same streets where he once strutted as the German ambassador to London.

This possibility took on at least a small degree of credulity in view of the feat of two Germans who made their way to Ireland on forged papers before they were interned.
Presumably von Ribbentrop would have equal, and probably greater, facilities for obtaining such papers with which to make his way to Britain.

See Un-Americanism
"The University xxx in its procedure of administration has neglected the fundamental tenet of the American way of life—the Democratic way of life. The question is whether or not students can be taught democracy without their being allowed to use it and see it in action."

After declaring that the university's charter gives "almost complete control to the president," the committee's report criticized Dr. H.
C. (Curly) Byrd, president, for a number of policies and actions.

"One professor estimates that up to the present time, as high as 100 professors have left the university because of the policy of the administration," the students' group asserted. "Another professor stated that approximately seven out of ten professors are looking for positions elsewhere at the present time."

Promotion of Professors
"One of the causes of this situation is the fact that the administration will not promote professors unless they can give sufficient proof that they have received better offers elsewhere."

"If the present policy is continued, will the exodus of outstanding professors continue? Does this mean that the quality of scholastic instruction will continue to drop?"

Germany Stripped Of Arms, Borders Cut by Allies

Cut Down to Pre-1937 Size and Virtually Becomes a Protectorate

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—An Allied council took formal command of shattered Germany today, slashing the nation down to its pre-1937 size and assumed sweeping responsibility for its military, civilian and economic administration.

Ordered stripped of all arms and Hitlerian conquests, the nation was reduced virtually to the status of a protectorate. Of all Hitler's acquisitions only the Saar basin which Germany won through a plebiscite remains even technically a part of the Reich today. Moreover the way was left open for further territorial revisions.

Allies Take Control
A proclamation issued at supreme headquarters in Paris said the Allied Control Council—composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, Russia and France—assumed all governmental functions in Germany effective at 6 p. m. (1
p. m. eastern war time).

The declaration assuming this authority was signed at Berlin by General Eisenhower for the United States, Marshal Zhukov for Russia, Field Marshal Montgomery for Britain and Gen. De Lattre De Tassigny for France, the announcement said.

Barriers Announced Earlier, the four Allies had announced agreement on machinery to control and impose humbling terms on the country led to disaster by Adolf Hitler. Nullifying every vestige of authority once wielded by Hitler's Reich, the victors assumed life and death powers over every man, woman and child in Germany.

Final disposition of Germany's territory and determination of her fate await a peace conference. Today's agreement defines the extent of joint Allied military control, while Germany "is carrying out the basic requirements of unconditional surrender."

The assumption of authority does not mean the annexation of Germany, a separate statement declared.
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flew to Berlin early today to sign the agreement and was given a rousing welcome by the fallen city's Russian conqueror, Marshal Zhukov, who was to sign for his country. Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery was to sign for Britain, and Gen.
Jean De Lattre De Tassigny for France.

Will Consult Others
A third statement issued by the Allied representatives declared their intention to consult with the governments of other United Nations in exercising the supreme authority which they assumed over the wreckage of Germany today.

The declaration set up a joint control council to govern Germany.
An inter-Allied authority was established for the "greater Berlin area" which will be jointly occupied.
The office of chief commandant will be rotated among the four com-mandants of the respective victor nations.

Germany in Four Zones
Germany was divided into four occupation zones—Russia on the east, France on the west, Britain on the northwest and the United States on the southwest. Provision was made for co-operation among the commanders in chief of the four zones on matters affecting all of Germany. Zone limits were not further described.

The agreement, announced simultaneously in Washington, Moscow, London and Paris, ordered Germany to hand over to the Allies all arms and war materials, including factories and their workers. It said all members of all German armed forces, including the secret police, would be considered prisoners of war.

in the country are to be policemen with small arms, to maintain order.
It ordered release of Allied prisoners and inmates of concentration camps. It demanded that war criminals be handed over. It specified the surrender in good conditions of all planes, ships, railroads, radio stations and other means of communication.

Japs Start Screaming
"The Japs," Ramage said later,
"were screaming like a bunch of wild pigs as we cleared all around less than fifty feet. Mutual cheers and jeers were exchanged by all hands."

Dead ahead again was the biggest ship of the convoy. The ship's bow presented a narrow target and left as Ramage put it, only the alternative of firing "down his throat."

The Parche opened fire, however, and hit the huge ship end on, stopping it. Then the Parche swung out and scored a torpedo bulleye from the side. A few minutes later the big ship sunk with a rumbling gurgle.

The Japanese escorts, meanwhile, were firing wildly at the Parche and even at each other.

With down at hand and a job well done, the Parche sped to safety.

Conference Faces Serious Problem In French Action

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
SAN FRANCISCO, June 5 (AP)—
The United Nations conference looked to Washington, London and Moscow today for guidance toward a solution of the knotty veto issue, on which France made known she would vote with the United States against Russia.

At stake is the right of free discussion of events threatening peace within the security council of a new world league. Russia says the Big Five—herself, France, the United States, Britain and China—must have the right to block such discussion.

Many Oppose Russia
But the preponderance of opinion and votes in the conference appeared to be against her.

Delegate Chairman Joseph Paul Boucor definitely put France into the opposition in the event of a showdown, despite her treaty ties with the Soviets. He predicted Russia would lose by a 45 to 5 ballot, with only Ukraine, White Russia, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia backing her.

AMONG THE FIRST PICTURES TO BE RELEASED of the widespread destruction suffered by Berlin is this photo of one of the principal thoroughfares of the former Hitler capital, made by a United States Signal Corps photographer. Damaged vehicles clutter the pavement and line the curb, and smoke still puffs from the windows of one of the many flame-gutted buildings of the war torn city.

Submarine Makes Good: U. S. Parche Blasts Five Jap Ships In 46 Minutes of Furious Fighting

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)— Sneaking into the middle of a Japanese convoy, the United States submarine Parche blasted five enemy vessels in forty-six minutes of furious fighting.

The story of the exploit was released by the navy today under its new policy of disclosing as much as it deems feasible of its hitherto hush-hush submarine operations.

Time and place, however, were not disclosed.

Under the command of Commander L. P. Ramage of Lowell, New York, the Parche had stalked the big convoy for several hours on a stormy night. Once it had closed in for the kill only to be blocked off by escorting war vessels.

Entered Escort Screen
On the second run, the Parche maneuvered inside the escort screen.
The submarine was running on the surface when it came smack up against the first target.

The submarine swerved off a short distance and loosed torpedoes.
There was a loud explosion and the ship was not seen again. A tanker was the next victim. A torpedo knocked off her bow and she sank almost immediately.

Another tanker came into the Parche sights and again torpedoes found their mark. The ship slowed but stayed afloat.

While the convoy's escort frantically sent up flares and opened up with machine guns, the Parche found a new target—a vessel "with a sizeable superstructure."

Breaks Ship in Two
A bulleye shot amidship broke the vessel in two.

The Parche, under a hail of machine gun fire, turned on her course and again spotted the tanker it had hit earlier. The tanker's small guns laid down a hot barrage. Ramage, who got the congressional medal for his work that night, ordered the lookouts below but himself remained on the bridge with the quartermaster.

Soon, the submarine fired another torpedo into the tanker, sending her to the bottom.

The Parche then started for her biggest ship of the group. Suddenly, however, a small enemy ship loomed up on the submarine's starboard bow and raced forward, apparently intending to ram. The Par-che swung around almost alongside the Japanese ship but on an opposite course.

Japs Start Screaming
"The Japs," Ramage said later,
"were screaming like a bunch of wild pigs as we cleared all around
less than fifty feet. Mutual cheers and jeers were exchanged by all hands."

Japanese Flee Four Big Towns Near Hongkong

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNGKING, June 5 (AP)—Japanese troops have abandoned four big industrial towns in the Hong Kong area in a contraction of their holdings along the vulnerable invasion-threatened South China coast, Chinese reports said today.

Three hundred and forty miles northwest, Chinese troops swept within twenty-one miles of imperiled Luichow and launched a new encircling threat to that former American airbase city, an American announcement disclosed.

Abandon Four Towns
In an area fifty-five miles west of Hong Kong, the Japanese were reported to have pulled out of Hoping, Seeping, Sunqui and Tolshan, all lying between forty-three miles southwest of Canton and nineteen miles from the South China Sea.

Chinese reports said the contraction of Japanese lines in coastal Kwantung province had been going on quietly for several weeks, but the reports were not revealed in Chungking until today.

The Japanese also were falling back under Chinese pressure along China's east coast north of the Japanese island of Formosa.

In this Fukien province area, Japanese remnants from liberated Siapu, seventy miles northeast of Fochow, were "fleeing" northward toward Futing, fifty-five miles southwest of the big coast port of Wenchow, a Chinese high command communique claimed.

for possession of Luichow, 400 miles southeast of Chungking. Two Chinese armies were closing on the city on an expanding 18-mile front.

Japs, Compressed On Southern End Of Island, Doomed

Admiral Delays His Daily Report beyond the Usual Hour

GUAM, Wednesday, June 6 (AP)— Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in an unusual communique today delayed beyond its usual hour, for the first time omitted all mention of ground operations on Okinawa and reported only scattered air actions against enemy shipping and bases extending to the mainland and Korea.

Such an extraordinary omission might mean that a special communique is in the offing, perhaps signaling the expected end of enemy resistance on the island.

Weather Hampers Japs
The nearest the communique came to reporting the situation on Okinawa, where the Japanese have been compressed into the southern portion of the island, was in saying there was "adverse weather" which prevented enemy air activity Monday.

In brief, this is what today's communique said:

Escort carrier planes of the United States Pacific fleet destroyed five grounded enemy planes on the Sakishima islands, southernmost of the Ryukyus, Sunday.

Search privaters of fleet air wing one blew up a large enemy oilier, sank three small cargo ships and damaged a freighter around Korea, Monday. That brought fleet air wing one's bag since the Okinawa operations began to 994,406 tons of enemy shipping sunk and 91,205 tons damaged.

Planes of fleet air wing eight-teen sank three small enemy cargo ships and damaged three off the Japanese main island of Honshu Tuesday. The day before, a small ship was hit off Honshu by a rocket-firing Mitchell of the fourth marine aircraft wing.

Other planes attacked a naval station and other installations in the Kuriles Monday.

The communique said the British fleet, which has been in co-ordinated operations with the United States Pacific fleet, primarily concerned with the Southern Ryukyus, had lost a total of 70 officers and men killed or missing and thirty-four seriously wounded.

Four Gas Dealers Held on Charge Of Conspiracy

BALTIMORE, June 5 (AP)—Two Frederick men and two Washington, D. C., gasoline dealers have been arrested in connection with a gasoline conspiracy involving coupons worth from 100,000 to 150,000 gallons, the Maryland Office of Price Administration reported today.

William Canford and Lewis C.
Anderson, of Frederick, were charged with conspiring to steal government property and transferring stolen gasoline ration coupons at their arrangement in Hagerstown before United States Commissioner
C. Welles Little who ordered them held under $5,000 and $1,000 bond respectively.

was held under $1,000 bond for hearing on June 14 on charges of receiving stolen coupons. He was arrested yesterday before United States Commissioner Needham C.

Washington man was withheld.

Anderson, the OPA said, was an employee of the Fredericktown Refining Institution and handled the coupons. He was charged, the state office continued, with having stolen

Hitler's Prisoner and Personal Enemy Believes Adolf Is Living

By GEORGE PALMER
NAPLES, June 5 (AP)—The Rev.
Martin Niemoller, self-described "Hitler's own prisoner and personal enemy" said today that he vainly tried to join the Nazi navy in 1936 because "my sons were out fighting and dying for me and I think a father should die for his sons."

"You must take me for what I am," said the Lutheran pastor who attacked Nazism from the pulpit in 1937. A U-boat commander in the First World War, he was in a concentration camp for his defiance of the Fuehrer, at the time he tried to enlist.

Released after eight years in Nazi prison camps by United States fifth army troops, Niemoller said at a press conference that he could not believe that Hitler—who personally ordered him to a concentration camp—was dead until a "reliable witness has seen his body."

"I read recently that a U-boat had been reported taken with German officers aboard, who were believed trying to escape to Japan. It may be that Hitler was trying to escape and for that reason the Nazis announced he was dead," Niemoller said.

Discussing political issues, the clergyman said that the German people "like to be governed and live under some authority" and that it might be true that the Germans were "incapable of living under a democracy."

Niemoller said he believed that the type of democracy under which the Germans could live had not yet been found.

Prisoner Riot At Jessups Is Blamed on Diet

BALTIMORE, June 5 (AP)—Joseph H. A. Rogan, director of the State Board of Correction, said today that conditions at the Maryland House of Correction, scene of a riot Saturday in which nineteen persons were injured, were still "uncertain" and "not as quiet as they should be."

Although his findings are not yet disclosed, the Board of Correction completed its investigation at the House yesterday. Rogan reported, but it expected additional information from other personnel at the Jessups institution.

Guards Interviewed

The board chairman said Superintendent of Prisons Harold E. Donnell was continuing his investigation today with interviews with guards who were on duty at the time of the riot and attempting to obtain the identity of leaders in the uprising and those who participated.

The riot, which raged for three hours Saturday evening before guards, state and Baltimore city police forced more than 900 prisoners back into their cells, was attributed to discontent of the prisoners over meat scarcity in their diets.

Rogan said that segregation of the participants insofar as possible showed that about thirty per cent of them were whites and seventy per cent negroes, which, he added, was about the ratio of whites and negroes in the total prison population of 1,940.

Prisoners are not yet being sent to work on the outside, he continued, and the board was attempting to work out some method of handling the situation on the basis of both population and personnel.

"We are still trying to ferret out the unrest in a very difficult situation," Rogan declared, adding that Donnell's investigation was expected to last all day today and into the night.

Bombing of Nagoya Brings Commendation
To Sgt. W. O. Bantz

A commendation for meritorious service in an aerial strike against the Mitsubishi aircraft plant at Nagoya, Japan, on April 7 has been presented to Staff Sgt. William O. Bantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bantz, 213 Aviret avenue, by Lt. Col. Leroy V. Casey, commanding officer of the First bombardment squadron, Ninth bombardment group.

In part, the commendation said Bantz "as a member of a lead aircraft crew which led a squadron formation of B-29s from an assembly point off the Japanese mainland into the target, performed very duties in an exceptionally meritorious manner which was partially responsible for the excellent bombing results obtained. During the bombing run you were attacked by many persistent enemy fighters as well as receiving concentrated fire from anti-aircraft positions at the target—still, operating as one team with perfect co-ordination, you remained calm and collected dropping your bombs, and in turn the others following you, directly on the target."

"It is this type of airmanship which will assist in bringing about the defeat of the Japanese empire at an early date. You and your crew are commended for your devotion to duty in the face of great danger. You have brought great credit upon yourself and the army air forces."

Eagles Aerie Installs
Officers for 1945-46

Newly elected officers of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, were installed last evening in ceremonies at the Eagles home.

Officers are Harry G. Rice, president; Frank T. Kelley, vice president; Bernard R. Kerns, chaplain; Frank C. McKnight, secretary; Daniel D. Willard, treasurer; Charles E. Keplinger, conductor; Elbert J. Jones, outside guard; Merle W. Lookabaugh, inside guard, and Francis H. Schultz, trustee for three years.

C. William M. Baer, past state president, delivered an address and was in charge of the installation, assisted by J. J. Stump, T. M. Mulvan, H. L. Meyers, H. P. Driver, W. T. Rollins, J. A. Miller, R. M. Barnard, L. J. Shinholt and W. C. Connolly.

Former LaSalle Football
Star Is Seriously Ill
In Veterans' Hospital

William D. Cavanaugh, son of Mrs. Aletta Cavanaugh, 329 Bond street, is reported to be in a serious condition at the veterans' hospital at Rutland Heights, Mass., where he was admitted last December after becoming ill suddenly.

A graduate of LaSalle high school in 1941, Cavanaugh was a V-12 student at Northwestern University, Chicago, Ill., when he became ill and was to have been commissioned an ensign January 18 of this year.

He received previous training at Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H. While at LaSalle he was a star full-back on the football team.

Col. Elmer Munshower
To Succeed Maxwell

BALTIMORE, June 5 (AP)—Joseph H. A. Rogan, chairman of the State Board of Correction, announced today appointment of Lieut. Col. Elmer F. Munshower, commanding officer of A. P. Hill Reservation, Va., to become superintendent of the Maryland State Reformatory for males.

Munshower succeeds Elmer St. Clair Maxwell, who was superintendent of the Roxbury, Md., institution under its former name of the State Prison Farm.

The name and function of the institution was changed under terms of a bill passed by the 1945 General Assembly, effective June 1.

Public schools of Mexico City are to have 250 additional teachers.

Bring Baseball Back
To the Philippines

Ival E. "Speed" Lambert, now a corporal with the Five-Hundred and Forty-fourth engineer boat and shore regiment, Fourth engineer special Brigade, recently had the unusual experience of taking part in the first game of organized baseball played in the Philippines since the beginning of the war.

Before entering the service almost two years, Cpl. Lambert was a star pitcher in district leagues. He hurried for Frostburg in the Bi-State until it was disbanded in 1941 and the following season, he tossed 'em in for the Bi-State Colts, a semi-pro team. His last season as a civilian in 1943 found him twirling for the Centerville Reds in the Pen-Mar League.

Chicago Schedules
Richest Race Meet

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Schedule for the richest Arlington-Washington park meeting since the two plants merged their seasons, a program of twenty-seven state events valued at $650,000 in added money, was announced today.

The season begins June 25 and extends sixty-four days through September 8 includes five $50,000 events, the Arlington classic, American derby, Stars and Stripes handicap, Arlington handicap and Washington Park handicap.

Legion Will Practice

The Cumberland American Legion baseball squad will practice at Community park this evening at 5:30 in preparation for its Pen-Mar League game with the Lonaconing Republican Club outfit here next Sunday afternoon.

Churchill Asks Mediation
Of Syrian Dispute

By JAMES M. KING
LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill stood firm today for immediate mediation of the Syrian-Lebanese dispute by the United States, Britain and France in the face of a formal French request for a "Big Five" conference on the entire Middle-East question, with Russia and China also sitting in.

The action of the French Council of Ministers in Paris in approving General DeGaulle's proposal for a "Big Five" meeting will necessitate a formal reply from each of the four nations to be invited, but there appeared to be little doubt of Britain's attitude.

Giving Commons a first-hand report of the recent fiery exchanges between himself and DeGaulle, Churchill asserted that a five-power conference on the dispute would "certainly cause a great deal of delay and require very careful consideration on many grounds."

With blunt words Churchill denied DeGaulle's allegations of last Saturday that the British had stirred up the Syrians.

Finan Received Well
By Division Buddies

Capt. Thomas B. Finan, former local attorney, in a letter to William C. Walsh, attorney general, described how his division buddies welcomed him back with gifts of clothes, a watch, $50, a case of cognac and two cases of rations.

Finan was a prisoner at Moosburg camp, near Munich, when his division, the Forty-fifth, took that city. Upon hearing of Finan's whereabouts, he reported, the division sent a detail to release him.

At one time in his captivity, Finan wrote, he escaped for three days and was within hearing distance of American artillery when picked up.

If Short of Meat,
Try Pigs' Ears

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill., June 5 (AP)—Short on variety of meats, Butcher W. T. Henry helps out his customers with recipes making the best use of what he has.

One day he had fifty pounds of pigs ears, twenty-five pounds of pig feet and twenty-five pounds of pig tails. Henry advised his customers:

"You boil the ears, roll them in flour and fry them. You boil the tails with beans to flavor the beans. Later you can pickle the tails. Pigs feet are always best pickled but you can boil them to be eaten like boiled pork bone." Henry sold out his stock early.

Experiment in Use
Of Pest Exterminator

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The most carefully controlled anti-pest experiment ever attempted was begun today on 117 acres of woodland in which nearly every mole hole, mouse hole, bird nest and ant hill has been mapped.

Over the wild life refuge at Patuxent, Md., an army plane sprayed the powerful chemical DDT, mixed with an oil solvent, at a rate of five pounds per acre, far more than is believed to be required to kill every insect within range. It was the first real step toward preparing for the release of DDT from the military services to civilian markets. The spraying will continue through tomorrow.

Baltimore Auto Thefts Decrease

BALTIMORE, June 5 (AP)—A systematic roundup of automobile thieves in Baltimore and penalties imposed by criminal court judges were credited today with the decrease in automobile thefts from 1,438 for the first five months of 1944 to 1,062 for the corresponding period of this year.

Some persons convicted of automobile thefts are serving sentences as great as ten years in the penitentiary, records showed. Police reported that most of the automobiles reported stolen this year were found abandoned within a few hours.

They said many of the cars were found near military reservations, having been borrowed by soldiers as a speedy means of transportation.

Truman Demands
Money for FEPC

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Speaking sharply to Congress for the first time, President Truman went to bat today for the Fair Employment Practice Committee, terming its abandonment "unthinkable."

Acting after the House Appropriations committee had deleted FEPC funds from the War Agencies Appropriations bill on the ground that the war-created agency lacks legislative authority, the president called for immediate passage of FEPC legislation.

His stand was taken in a letter to Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) whose House Rules committee has bottled up a bill creating a permanent FEPC.

Pfc. Kenneth Mahaney
Helps Publish Division Newspaper in Germany

Pfc. Kenneth Mahaney, husband of Mrs. Margaret Mahaney and son of Taylor Mahaney, 111 Race street, has been placed on the staff of the Ninety-fourth Infantry Division newspaper, "The Attack." It was learned here last evening.

Serving with the Fifteenth army in Germany Pfc. Mahaney was recently transferred from the signal company to photographer for the division. He has been in the service approximately two years and overseas since August 6, 1944.

Mrs. Mahaney has received a number of souvenirs from her husband which include a number of Hitler propaganda pictures, pictures of the 1932 Olympic meet, pins and a German book on photography.

Higgins Company

returning servicemen played a part in the dispute, but they differed sharply in statements on the subject.

Andrew J. Higgins, company president, declared yesterday that "the whole thing boils down to the fact that I am giving returning servicemen jobs without forcing them to join any union."

Alexander countered with the assertion that negotiations toward a new contract broke down when the company refused even to consider a clause providing benefits for returning servicemen.

Hitler's Prisoner

who took part in the interview echoed his belief. They were Col. Herman Puender, a former Reich chancellor under President Hindenburg; Dr. Joseph Mueller, a German resistance leader of Munich; Dr. Johann Neuhäusler, former canon of Munich cathedral, and Ulrich Goerdeler, a Stettin lawyer.

Niemöller insisted that his opposition to Hitler was never based on political grounds. In a previous interview, delayed by censor from May 18, he said he saw in 1933 that the system of Hitlerism would lead to corruption.

"Until that time I had nourished the hope that national Socialism, if it had gone the right way, might have developed into a system for creating good for the German people. I must say that I had been deceived," he said.

But the pastor added that his opposition had always been based fundamentally on religion. Under Hitlerism, he said, "if an individual creed of a person did not coincide with the state creed then his religion became a political crime."

Her story, as related by police, continued:

Mrs. Langford's Story

"I was dressed in a lounging robe, lying in bed reading a book, and my husband, fully clad, was sitting on the edge of the bed looking at a newspaper, when 'Winny' our small black Pekinese ran to the door, growled and indicated he heard a noise."

"My husband went to the door. I heard the two strangers say they wanted to see me. They wanted to talk to me 'about Raphael Diaz,' they said."

"Diaz, police said, was a former Metropolitan opera singer and protégé of the Langfords. He died nearly two years ago."

"My husband left them at the door, returned to the bedroom. I told him to tell them I didn't know them and wouldn't see them."

"Then I heard a thud, and a groan. I ran to the door and found my husband slumped to the foyer floor."

The only tangible clues in police possession were a .32 caliber spent shell and a .38 caliber bullet, found in the hallway, and a .38 caliber slug removed from Langford's body.

An autopsy showed the death bullet had entered the right side of Langford's face and passed through the lower part of his skull into the left side of his neck.

Four Gas Dealers

coupons worth 100,000 to 150,000 gallons in the last year and given them to Canford who sold them.

Two Men Accused

The OPA reported that Bartemeier and the other Washington dealer were accused of buying coupons from Canford. Bartemeier was charged specifically with paying $1,300 to Canford for 7,000 gallons worth of coupons in the presence of an OPA investigator.

Bartemeier was arrested yesterday after what OPA agents said was a second purchase of coupons allegedly stolen from a Frederick bank.

Measures Taken

attention factor of itself would seem to be an ultimate answer to Japanese suicide tactics. The wastage is fantastic if 99 out of 100 ships are beaten off or shot down.

It is an axiom of normal air combat fully affirmed in the course of the war in Europe that sustained attack is impossible where losses run as high as 10 per cent. Mitscher's experience in the Pacific operations indicated that no more than 10 per cent of enemy suicide bombers ever penetrated navy air defenses and that such as did were all shot down or destroyed themselves. He gave no figures on losses incurred by enemy planes which did not break through, but it seems probable that aggregate Japanese losses in ships and pilots run far above the 10 per cent deadline.

The pertinent fact also is that for all that morale-shattering loss ratio, the suicide bombing technique has not halted although it may have prolonged the clearance of Okinawa. Nor is there any reason to expect that it could prevent an amphibious assault on the Japanese islands themselves if and when the time for that comes.

Compromise Is

original proposal for a full year of continuous military training for every youth as soon as he becomes 18, or shortly thereafter. John Thomas Taylor, national legislative director of the Legion, told the committee that America must be continuously prepared because if another war breaks she will not be given time to prepare while Allies keep the enemy at bay.

Taylor called upon the clergy and labor for support of the plan "if they want to be certain churches will not be ground into rubble by enemy guns and workers be forced to labor as slaves."

Taylor asserted that opposition to the plan is being voiced by "temperers," "pacifist groups," and "some educators."

Ohio Man Forfeits Bonds Totalling $112.90

Charged with reckless driving and operating while under the influence of liquor, Barney E. Oldfield, Columbus, O., forfeited bonds totalling $112.90 when he failed to appear for a hearing in trial magistrates court Monday before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

Sgt. Harold C. Carl of the state police, who arrested Oldfield on Route 40 near Red Hill Saturday night, said that Oldfield was driving on the left side of the highway when his car sideswiped a machine driven by Russell Norman Merrill, Jennings. A charge of reckless driving against Merrill was dismissed by Magistrate Bruce.

A suspended sentence was given to James S. Martin, Jr., 513 Oldtown road, on a charge of reckless driving, when the prosecuting witness failed to appear at the hearing yesterday before Magistrate Bruce.

According to Lt. James E. Van, who preferred the charge, Martin's car crashed against a parked machine on Frederick street May 10 and he and a passenger in his car suffered minor injuries.

Disturbing Reports Concerning Sugar

DISTURBING REPORTS about sugar hoarding have been brought back to the East from travelers returning from western trips. It is said that there are vast stores of sugar in warehouses there and that they are being deliberately held until such time as the ceiling prices on the commodity are removed so that a greater profit may be realized by those holding it.

Whether such reports have been duly looked into by the special committee of the national House of Representatives appointed to investigate the sugar situation is not known but presumably it has. The average American, according to its findings, will have thirty per cent less sugar during the second half of this year than in the same period of last year. The over-all cut for this will be almost twenty per cent below last year's allotment.

This reduction is attributable chiefly to the fact that Cuba's crop was damaged by a hurricane and seven months of drought. Its sugar output for this year amounts to only 4,000,000 tons, whereas a 5,000,000 crop had been expected. In contrast, the island's crop for 1944 amounted to 5,650,000 tons. Lack of labor, devastation of war and drought in producing areas outside this hemisphere are said to have made it impossible to offset the cut in the Cuban crop.

The committee states that the only way to insure an increase in the supply is to negotiate immediately for the 1946 Cuban and Puerto Rican crops, to review foreign demands for Caribbean sugar and to await resumption of Philippine production and the liberation of Java and other sugar-producing areas from the Japanese. But if there is anything to the disconcerting reports brought back from the Western United States, something should be done there. If sugar is being hoarded in storage, the federal government should step in and confiscate it for the benefit of the national food economy.

Those Canadian Promoters

WARNINGS being issued by the Pennsylvania Securities Commission against unlicensed promoters of oil and mining ventures, particularly those situated in Canada, who have been operating at full tilt, may well be followed by Marylanders.

The commission says it has learned that the method of operation by these unlicensed promoters is to send out glowing circulars promising large returns which are followed up with long-distance telephone calls.

"The rising tide of these illegal offerings," it says, "is a matter of concern not only to the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, but to the National Association of Securities Commissioners, which is conducting a nation-wide campaign against such promoters. The Pennsylvania Securities Commission has issued cease and desist orders, against forty-two Canadian promoters, and has secured fugitive, indictments in three cases although this, except for the publicity, is fruitless since the extrajurisdictional Canadian does not cover securities law violations."

Similar action has been taken against some of these Canadian promoters by the national Securities and Exchange Commission.

Noting that all legitimate dealers in securities and their salesmen are duly licensed and that their certificates are available for inspection, the Pennsylvania Commission "emphatically" warns prospective dupes that buying securities from strangers over the long-distance telephone is an extremely hazardous thing. "People who persist in doing so can expect little protection or redress from these governmental agencies operating in their interest."

Communism in America

RECENT ATTEMPTS by French communists to lash the Communist party in America to a new peak of militancy have received American antagonism to the party and all that it stands for. The flip-flopping of Earl Browder, head of the party in the United States, and his unprincipled followers has disgusted the American people. They have no use for communism. They have less use for a party which will reverse its policy overnight at the command of an alien dictator.

Fear has been expressed by some Americans that Stalin will resume his communist propaganda in the United States now that he has the aid of this country to repel the German invasion. It is believed by some that he is working through the French communists.

There is little ground for either of these developments. The American people saw that after twenty years of communism the Russian people were unable to defend their homeland without the help of a free-enterprise country. They admired the Russian peoples' dogged courage, but deplored their failure to guard against an enemy which for years menaced their territorial integrity. As to the French communists, they are regarded by Americans as traitors to France and largely responsible for Germany's belief that it could conquer the world by force. France's pitiable showing when it met the test of its preparedness was the fruit of a great degree of communist undermining of French character. France can not rise again to strength and dignity until it rids her people of the delusions of Marxist communism. The American labor movement is sure to see that much of its bad standing with the bulk of the American people is attributable to a few of its leaders who follow the communist line, and to the many who unwittingly resort to communist tactics in applying force to attain their goals. The war has discredited these people. As war employment falls off, and there is more competition for jobs, the unions which have suffered from this leadership will renounce and banish it. This will further weaken what there is of a communist movement in the United States. And the returning veterans will do their part to oppose any attempt to demolish representative government by any group, especially the communist hothouse. On the whole, communism in America seems to be on its way to the grave.

The Trek Back To the Home

OUT IN DETROIT, an International News Service writer has a quaint way of saying the great boom there in the making of machinery of warfare is on the decline. Rosie, the riveter, has started her trek back to the kitchen in the way it is worded, which is another way of saying that large numbers of women workers are being laid off, at least until such time as the giant motor and allied industries get going making cars, some time after July 1.

Thus, it is explained, thousands of war workers are receiving "honorable discharges" from war plants. They became the front line in industry's manpower was drained off by the draft. How many of the men will return is problematical; so will the number of women who will again be given jobs in the motor capital.

The influx of the fair sex began early in the war. They took on jobs and filled them well—jobs which it was previously unthinkable for them to hold. They became foundry workers, assemblers, crane operators, machinists, truck drivers, fitted into almost any kind of activity. Before the war they had been restricted to office work and light factory tasks.

What is happening in Detroit will happen in other war industry centers, even outside them, for exodus of men on an undetermined scale toward the places from which they came will not be uncommon. Thousands of women war workers will elect to set up homes of their own as housewives when their husbands and sweethearts return from the war fronts. It will be some time, however, before we get back to conditions existing before the world strife upset the domestic situation.

An Industry That Needs Boosting

EASING of restrictions which have retarded construction of dwellings should serve two purposes. A token distribution of priorities required for home building announced by the National Housing Agency is a hopeful sign, as is raising from $200 to $1,000 the amount an individual may spend on repairs or construction without priorities.

When house building is again permitted on a normal scale, employment will be provided for artisans who otherwise might be idle, and there will be a beginning in meeting the needs of people seeking homes through purchase or on a rental basis.

Removal of restrictions will revive one of the nation's most important industries. Present conditions under which families that have rented houses are forced to vacate and buy housing accommodations at greatly inflated prices will not be eased immediately, but there is hope that they will not continue to become worse.

A new packaged fuel, we read, is so clean that it can be handled with white gloves. Well! Now all we need is a coal ash that will be found in pit or pitifully incased in a fire-proof, sealed cellophane bag.

A reader says he longs for the day when a hamburger will again be something more than just two pieces of bread with a gravy stain in between.

Twice as many women, statistics show, reach the age of 100 years as do men. But, how many of them will admit it?

SCOPE

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The over-all picture of life is the only one worth our consideration. It isn't the big or little defeat or victory of today that makes one out, or that sets him aside as a success or a failure—but the vast scope of life itself that is envisioned.

William James in one of his most fascinating and realistic lectures—once delivered a half century ago—said this: "What sort of a thing would life really be, if one's qualities ready for a tussle with it, if it only brought fair weather and gave these higher faculties of yours no scope?"

How can anyone hope for happiness who is determined upon an isolation of his own life, in contrast to the lives of others, or who seeks himself in, with no scope to his immortal soul? This visible world of ours is but the promise of an invisible one which we dream, work and pray may some day be ours. It is that hidden reserve within us—a concealed spiritual force, which we feel but cannot see, that makes all life attemptable and very much worth while.

The light of life floods our consciousness and fills us with light and will just the moment we decide that fear shall be no master of us, and that those higher elements so generously given to us as an inheritance shall rule us in all our decisions throughout life.

Life did not come to us as something with which to play uselessly, but for a purpose. Every kindly act that stirs us, every urge that warms our heart, and every hope that gleams like a silver cord in the sunlight, are things that convince us of a living, latent power, without which life would appear dark indeed.

We judge others largely by what we know about ourselves. We even judge other nations—perhaps unfortunately—by what we know about our own land, but if our mental and spiritual scope is great enough, we are bound to gain knowledge that otherwise might be inaccurate.

It is largely because we live in a self world that we lose our faith and vision and grow restless, and lose the courage to stake all that we have on life. Listen to the words of William James again: "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

United States Fails To Cite a Single Nazi War Criminal, Report by Pell Discloses

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Despite all the ballyhoo about grandiose plans for the trial of war criminals, the real fact is that as of this writing not one Nazi has been listed for trial by the American section of the War Crimes Commission.

The British have proposed names. The Russians have gone ahead with an unidentified number. And the U. S. Army has tried and punished various Nazis who committed crimes against American soldiers. But not one name so far has been listed by the U. S. section of the War Crimes Commission under U. S. Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson.

Furthermore, at a secret meeting held in Washington a few days ago, Justice Jackson would not be pinned down to conviction of any large group of Nazis, such as the Gestapo or SS Elite Guard, before Christmas. He even said he wasn't sure they were guilty under international law.

Peculiarity Emphasized

How peculiar the whole run-around regarding the trial of Nazi war criminals is, has just been emphasized in a confidential report to the White House by Herbert Pell, former minister to Portugal and Hungary and until recently U. S. chairman of the War Crimes Commission.

Mr. Pell reveals in his report that some state department officials did not agree with him that Hitlerites who beat up and killed innocent victims because of their religion should be considered guilty of war crimes. Pell took a vigorous stand on this, and eventually his differences with the state department caused him to be ejected out of the War Crimes Commission.

His confidential White House report dated May 23, 1945, follows:

Pell's Secret Report
"Late in June, 1943," it states, "I was appointed American member of the War Crimes Commission by President Roosevelt. I immediately went to the State department and in a few weeks was ready to sail. I was informed that the British government did not want the American commissioner to get to England until the commission was ready to meet. I discovered afterwards that no such suggestion had ever been sent through the American embassy in London."

"I tried to get as assistant, Professor Sheldon Glueck, of Harvard, who was willing to come, and a friend of mine, Paul Lienau. The department sent neither of these gentlemen but preferred Mr. Lawrence Preuss. After a very short time in London, I discovered that a part of Mr. Preuss's duties was to write letters, mostly abusive to me, to Mr. Sandifer, of the State department, who in turn gave them to Mr. Hackworth, the legal adviser whose division had charge of war crimes in the department. When I discovered this I told Mr. Preuss that he should file his private letters with this character with the commission's documents. He did file some of them but not all.

Motion Opposed

"In February, 1944, I moved, in a committee of the War Crimes Commission, that crimes against whomsoever committed for reasons of race, religion, or political opinion should be treated as war crimes. Mr. Preuss, although officially subordinate to me, rose in committee and opposed this suggestion."

"A few weeks later a British general sent me by special messenger a document marked secret, for which I had no sign. Mr. Preuss asked me to have some copies made of it. I refused to allow this but told him that he could see the original. Shortly thereafter he was discovered dictating a copy of this document. I confiscated the copies, the stenographer's notes, and the carbon copy immediately reported to Ambassador Winant, representing the president, that I could not accept the responsibility of secret documents if anyone in my office could arrogate to themselves the privilege of making copies."

"Mr. Preuss was immediately returned to the United States but to my surprise instead of being reproved for making private copies of military secret documents he was placed in honor in the State department and has been maintained and is now in a responsible position in San Francisco."

"The effect of this course by the United States is manifestly harmful to the prestige of Europe. There are more than a hundred million people in Europe who for four years have been living in terror, kept alive mainly by the hope of ultimate justice. Most of these people would prefer the leadership of the United States but if they can get nothing from us they will turn to the leadership of some other country. The importance of this subject from an international point of view can hardly be overestimated."

Religious War Crimes

"During the summer of 1944 I was chairman of a committee of the commission. This committee recommended that crimes committed because of race or religion should be treated as war crimes and a letter to that effect was sent to the British foreign office on the twenty-ninth of May and immediately thereafter to the State department."

"The British foreign office did not answer this letter and eventually Sir Cecil Hurst, chairman of the commission, resigned because of the refusal of the British government to answer. In spite of vigorous letters requesting adequate instructions on this subject I received none from the state department."

"About the close of the summer we recommended the setting up of mixed military courts and the reparation of an organization along the lines of the FBI to apprehend war criminals as soon as any part of Germany was occupied. The last of these recommendations were sent in October, 1944."

"I returned to the United States in December, 1944, and found that nothing had been done about any of them. In my opinion, had the recommendations been acted on there would today have been adequate machinery for the immediate trial of war criminals."

"My protest in December resulted in the failure of Congress to appropriate $30,000 for the commission and I was told not to return. The State department, however, did find adequate money to maintain an office in London with an adequate staff of stenographers; in fact, everything that was needed except the salary of the commissioner amounting with allowances to about $6,000. I offered to serve free but this offer was refused."

Roosevelt Gave OK

"This failure to appropriate money prevented my return to place during the close of the last Congress, which adjourned December 19, 1944. The State department was given notice of this fact but I did not hear of it until the ninth of January. On that day I had an appointment with the late President Roosevelt and having been in the United States for more than a month I went to the State department and asked Mr. Hackworth if anything new had come up so I could be accurately informed when discussing the subject with the president. Mr. Hackworth told me the literal truth which had come in from London but said nothing about the failure of the congressional appropriation."

"I then went over to the White House where I discussed the matter with the president. The last words that he said to me were, 'go back to London as quickly as you can and make yourself chairman of the commission.'"

"That afternoon I went to the secretary of state expecting simply to shake him by the hand, say good-bye, and return on the next boat. In the secretary's office I found Mr. Hackworth and was informed that I could not return at all."

Blunt Retort

"When I asked Mr. Hackworth, in the presence of the secretary of state, why he'd allowed me to go over to the White House and discuss this matter with the president in ignorance of the fact that I could not return, thus making a fool of the president and me, he answered that it was none of his business to keep me informed and that in any case, you are the president's appointee and not mine."

"Since then four months have gone by and nothing has been done, no courts have been set up and no system of law has been accepted for the trial of war criminals."

"The effect of this course by the United States is manifestly harmful to the prestige of Europe. There are more than a hundred million people in Europe who for four years have been living in terror, kept alive mainly by the hope of ultimate justice. Most of these people would prefer the leadership of the United States but if they can get nothing from us they will turn to the leadership of some other country. The importance of this subject from an international point of view can hardly be overestimated."

Not a Dime Added

Mr. Truman defends his proposal on the need, as he says, to "maintain purchasing power." But it is as certain as sunrise that his proposal adds not a dime to the permanent purchasing power of the nation. If "A" is taxed $100 to hand the $100 to "B" (less the political brokerage), "A" has $100 less purchasing power. If "B" has $100 more purchasing power, "B" has $100 more purchasing power. If "B" has $100 more purchasing power, "B" has $100 more purchasing power.

Cleveland Panic Short

In the "Cleveland panic" the government recognized no obligation to act as grand almoner to anybody. The panic was painful while it lasted. But the point is that it did not last long. Having to hustle for themselves the people found gold in the Klondike. And when the panic was over there were no dead horses to pay for in the form of billions of debt. The Cleveland "panic" may be contrasted with the New Deal "depression." One lasted four years; the other has been going on fifteen years, deadened for the moment by the deficit-spending of war. One left no debt for future generations to pay; the other had added forty billions of debt prior to Pearl Harbor.

The obligation to relieve actual distress is based on principles of brotherhood to which even the Neanderthal man responded. Mr. Truman, however, does not base his plea on actual distress. His beneficiaries are not to be required to prove they have nothing and are in need. They have saved hundreds or thousands of dollars. Nevertheless, Mr. Truman proposes maximum benefits of "not less" than $25 per week or $108.50 per month. Furthermore, the length of time these benefits are to be enjoyed is to be increased from sixteen weeks to twenty-six weeks. Why not fifty-six? How come that twenty-six is the new magic number?

Opposition Justified

For men drafted away from their jobs and homes to go into military service at $50 a month, the responsibility of the government to help tide them over from guns to butter is another thing. But civilian labor opposed the draft—rightly so, I think. They went into war jobs voluntarily, in the main, and at the highest pay in history, despite the rise in the cost of living.

Mr. Truman in the Senate, last year supported the Kilgore-Murray-Truman bill which was overwhelmingly defeated. After a splendid

Federal Payments For the Jobless Is Declared Harmful

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL

President Cleveland once said it is the duty of the people to support their government; it is not the business of the government to support the people. He was right, of course. The truth is that no "government" can support the people. All it can do is to make a forced levy on some of the people to support the rest of the people. It is the world's illusion that "government" has sources of wealth that the people do not create themselves. There is no such thing as "government money."

These reflections are prompted by President Truman's more government spending and non-Jeffersonian message on reconversion "benefits" to workers. He says the government has an "obligation" to provide these benefits. This means, in short, that he thinks some of the people have a legal obligation to support the rest of the people; that "A" must tax himself to provide benefits for "B" or not spend for himself and family in order to buy government bonds to provide such "benefits" for "B."

Not a Dime Added
Mr. Truman defends his proposal on the need, as he says, to "maintain purchasing power." But it is as certain as sunrise that his proposal adds not a dime to the permanent purchasing power of the nation. If "A" is taxed $100 to hand the $100 to "B" (less the political brokerage), "A" has $100 less purchasing power. If "B" has $100 more purchasing power, "B" has $100 more purchasing power. If "B" has $100 more purchasing power, "B" has $100 more purchasing power.

The United States delegation didn't like Argentina's fascist government any more than did the Russians but when the issue arose, all members of the American delegation decided the tactful thing to do was to go along with the demand of the Latin-American states. This was not just the decision of some officials in the department of State but the decision of all persons in our delegation, as well as President Truman.

Recognition Weapon

Now that Argentina's government is guilty of misbehavior, there is little the United States can do but there is much the Latin-American states can do. Unless Argentina modifies her course she can expect to consult one another and withdraw recognition from the existing government at Buenos Aires. This should be done at once because obviously the administration in power there has completely abused the friendship and trust of the other Pan-American states.

But there is a curious irony in any such move. Russia, which through Foreign Commissar Molotov opposed Argentina's admission, is herself a flagrant offender not only in refusing freedom of the press internally but in refusing permission to foreign correspondents to visit areas under her control. The British and American governments have been carrying on a long correspondence with Moscow about this latter point and every now and then a concession is made but would Russia agree that any nation or group of nations has the right to judge whether her form of government is acceptable to the outside world?

Unfortunate Position

The Latin-American governments, indeed, insisted that the principle of non-interference in internal affairs must be maintained. That was why they debated so vehemently against the Molotov argument. They declared that no group of nations start as president, he has gone off his course with more spending, more pump-priming, more debt, more inflation, and a longer reconversion depression, while men who are not in distress "live off the government" while waiting for a job to be brought them on a platter. The benefits so paid will be charged in large part to the returning veteran in future tax bills.

Argentine Issue Action is Viewed As Most Tactful

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 5 — Now that Argentina's government has kicked over the traces and increased rather than diminished its fascist rules about suppressing civil liberties, there is a mistaken tendency to criticize the United States delegation for sponsoring the admission of Argentina to the San Francisco conference.

There are, curiously enough, persons, unless it was communistic, think the United States had a freedom of choice in the matter and could actually have opposed Argentina's admission. Strictly speaking the United States had the right to oppose the step but, if it had done so, it would have destroyed Pan-American solidarity and wrecked the San Francisco conference. Was the Argentine issue worth such a catastrophe?

Banded on Principle

The nations south of the Rio Grande had banded together on a question of principle. They asked: Should any nation be barred because some other country disliked its form of government? This could mean, the Latin Americans said, that Russia could ban any government unless it was communistic.

The Latin-American delegates reached such a high pitch of emotion over the affair as to serve notice that unless the moral commitment they gave at Mexico City to allow Argentina to adhere to the Act of Chapultepec was fulfilled, they would have no further faith in any agreements made at San Francisco.

The United States delegation didn't like Argentina's fascist government any more than did the Russians but when the issue arose, all members of the American delegation decided the tactful thing to do was to go along with the demand of the Latin-American states. This was not just the decision of some officials in the department of State but the decision of all persons in our delegation, as well as President Truman.

Not Disappointing

The truth is that the charter being written at San Francisco will represent the maximum that all sovereign nations, acting individually, are willing to accept, and this may be the minimum on which agreement is found feasible. This is not necessarily a disappointing result. For moral force, plus proper military preparedness, can prevent future wars.

The first is unrestricted by the new charter and permits the mobilization of world opinion against a would-be aggressor. The second deals with the right and duty of self-defense. The United States, as a member of a loosely organized league, may do more for world peace than a rigidly written league covenant from which America's active participation has been omitted.

LISTEN WORLD!

IS THE A. S. O. L. WORTH THE PRICE?

This article is going to step on a lot of toes, mine included. But it concerns a question we all must face and ducking facts isn't going to help any. So here goes—
IS THE AMERICAN STANDARD OF LIVING WORTH THE PRICE WE PAY?

Whereupon, large numbers of indignant citizens will snort, "Why, of course it is. The A.S.O.L. is the finest on earth. It's what we're fighting for. Just look at any group of Americans. Compare them with visiting foreigners and what you know about their way of life. There's the answer. We've got it all over the rest of the world!"

But have we? I wonder. Yesterday I sat watching thousands of Americans surging along Grand Avenue in San Francisco. It was late afternoon. They were changing shifts in the big defense plants that fringe the Bay. Crowds of women workers strolled along in slacks and sweaters. Other crowds of marketing housewives window-shopped. Business girls, groomed to the hilt, clicked by. Pompous peace delegates escorted by exquisite ladies in cocktail hour eloquence. A cross section of the whole human race passed that one block.

What would one expect to see in those eyes—particularly in the Americans? Weariness, strain, grief, resentment, boredom? Surely after six years of world agony these marks would be there. Yet, for the most part, they were lacking. The A.S.O.L. has saved the Yankees from that. Even the shabbier girl welder was well fed, vital, self-confident. But almost without exception there was something in those faces, rich or poor, from which the A.S.O.L. hadn't saved them. There was DISCONTENT. It's a fact—the most important one in our current history—which we can't ignore. Take Americans wherever you find them—New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle—and you'll find the same brand stamped deep in the American face—THE BRAND OF DISCONTENT.

In spite of depression—in spite of mounting taxes—we're still the best fed, best clothed, best housed, best paid people in the world. We have unlimited privileges and opportunities. The simplest citizen enjoys luxuries beyond a European worker's dream. Our children grow up accepting those luxuries as a matter of course. Presently they too join the struggle, achieving even greater comforts. But are they satisfied? Do they stop to enjoy their success? Dare they stop, if they hope to enjoy the same standard of living? They dare not. For under that standard, constant struggle is a fundamental necessity. No matter how much we have, we must always work more, achieve more. We camouflage this urge with fancy names. We call it ambition. We sneer at the Europeans who retire in middle age, at the strangers who have time in life for leisure. But the simple fact is that the American way of life traps us and condemns us to a squirrel-cake existence.

That's why I'm wondering if it's worth the price we pay in envy, restlessness and strained energy. Could we do with a simpler plan, with fewer conveniences, less comfort, and find time to really meet and know ourselves and our neighbors?

How about peace? Can we ever win peace for the world if we are unable to establish it within ourselves? Can we ever know the larger brotherly vision of life when we cannot see beyond our own feverish battle for material possessions?

Or will Youth be our hope as always? Will our boys return with a new concept of existence, a new love of simplicity, a new appreciation of what living might really mean?

Girl, 20, Loves Army Officer 25 Years Her Senior

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

"Dear Miss Fairfax:
"When I graduated from prep school two years ago I decided to study music instead of going to college. I'm rather serious, not one of those girls always in and out of love. I am 20 years old.

"My father's friend, a major, now assigned to the War department, came to stay with us 'til he could find an apartment, which he now shares with another officer. He'd been sent home from the Pacific theater where he had been very ill with malaria. He will not go back. The major is 45 years old and the most splendid looking man I've ever seen, especially when he wears his cap. I can't bear those overseas envelope things.

"I don't know whether he's in love with me or not. But he knows

I love him, for I just told him before he left our house. He said: "When a man sees the road to Paradise, you don't know what it costs him to turn back, little girl. Then he left the house without another word. He seems to be avoiding me ever since.

To answer a letter such as yours, full of the joy that only a first love can bring, and your unhappiness over its uncertain outcome, is not a welcome task.

But cold facts must be faced and I wouldn't be worthy of your confidence if I didn't put them before you. You're 20 and your major is 45. When you're in the full bloom of young womanhood he'll be an old man and his impaired health doesn't make the question of your future easier to solve. Recurrent attacks of malaria may make him an invalid, sooner than his actual age. He must have had such a possibility in view when he told you how hard it was to turn back after a glimpse of Paradise.

Now, let me soften the blow by saying that many marriages with disparity of years such as you state, have been happy. The question of greatest importance is that of this man's health. Also has he an income apart from what he receives from the government at present, and later as a pensioner? And finally, your parent's reactions to this marriage are not to be lightly considered. Please write me again, I'd like to know what you decide.

Simmons Brothers Reported Wounded; In Same Hospital

Hambleton Soldiers Were Both Injured When Hit in Knees

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., June 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simmons, Hambleton, have learned that their sons, Pfc. Earl P. Simmons and Pvt. Delmar Simmons, are both patients in a base hospital in the Philippine Islands with wounds of the knee.

Pfc. Earl Simmons, was a member of Company I of the One Hundred and Fifty-Second Infantry which killed eighty-four Japanese in less than three hours in an encounter in the Zambales mountains on Luzon recently.

Their other son, Pvt. Delmar Simmons, has been wounded for the second time. He took part in the invasion of the islands.

Speaks To Guild

The Rev. Harold D. Shifflet, pastor of First Presbyterian church, of Parsons, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Arman Guild held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith with Miss Mary Rawlings Smith and Mrs. J. R. Wolf as hostesses.

He spoke of the work of the woman's auxiliary of his church and the guild voted to organize a woman's auxiliary in that church. They will affiliate with the Southern Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary. Mrs. James English was appointed to the flower committee for the month of June.

Board To Close June 13

Glendie E. Mosser, county chairman of the Tucker county War Price and Rationing Board, announced that the Thomas office will be closed all day Wednesday, June 13, when the entire office force will attend a district meeting in Elkins.

Office workers and county workers from Grant, Hardy, Pendleton, Randolph, Tucker and Upshur counties are to attend.

Mosser also stated that canning sugar applications have been frozen since Saturday night at midnight and all applications sent to the office will be returned until the restrictions have been lifted.

Bible School Opens

The Parsons daily vacation Bible school opened in the grade school Monday morning with Mrs. Harold D. Shifflet as the supervisor. The school again this year is a union school for children of all churches of Parsons.

The curriculum theme is "A Living Church, with Live Church Members" and is patterned after the Sunday school departmental system—beginners, primary, junior and intermediate departments. The junior department has the largest enrollment again this year with thirty-seven attending.

There is also a music and recreational department which work with each group outside of the regular classes. One hundred and five members are enrolled with the following instructors and helpers.

Miss Ruby Kate Greider, Mrs. C. C. Holbert and Miss Nancy Purkey, beginners department; Miss Helene Aliman and Mrs. James English, primary department; Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. M. E. Hilliard and Miss Joanna Felton, junior department; Mrs. William Hamby and Mrs. Ralph L. Rowland, intermediate department; Miss Judith Little and Miss Alice Donalds, recreational department; and Miss Sally Ann Engle, Miss Phyllis Ours and Mrs. Shifflet, music department. Miss Alice Fankhauser is the office assistant.

Service Notes

Staff Sgt. Wilton L. Evans, 19, is spending a thirty-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Twila Evans, Davis. Sgt. Evans has recently returned from overseas duty, having completed thirty-three bombing missions over enemy territory as a B-17 Flying Fortress ball-turret gunner. While overseas, Sgt. Evans experienced a narrow escape with a 1,300-foot parachute jump while on a bombing attack against German rail centers. He holds the Air Medal and an Oak Leaf Cluster.

Lt. Mary B. Meyer, ANC, has been assigned to duty at the McGuire general hospital, Richmond, Va. Before entering the corps in April, 1945 at Camp Lee, Va., Lt. Meyer was supervisor of the health unit of federal housing administration, Washington, and previously served as supervisor at the Children's service home.

Mrs. Dorothy Paugh Watkins, Hambleton, received a letter from her husband, T-5 Warren Gene Watkins, today stating that he had met his brother, Cpl. Robert Watkins, while serving in Germany. This is the first time they have met in over two years and both have been overseas for more than a year. They are the sons of Mrs. Grace Watkins.

Seaman 1-c John Martin is visiting his mother's home here for his first leave in many months. He was in Belgium and England. He stated that, on their return they heard the news of V-E day and for the first time the ship's lights were lit.

Personals

Mrs. Emma Scott, 82, veteran telephone operator of Thomas and Davis, and the mother of Miss Pearl Scott, Thomas, and Mrs. W. O. Johnson, Davis, also veteran operators, was injured when she fell on the street in Thomas this week. She was removed to an Elkins hospital where it was found that she suffered a badly sprained and bruised right arm. She is improving.

Miss Pauline Duncan, granddaughter of Mrs. J. W. Duncan, Thomas, was graduated from the Capital City school of Nursing, Gallinger memorial hospital, Washington, this week. Her brother, Chief Pharmacist Mate, William E. Duncan, Oakland, Cal., attended the exercises. They were reared by their grandmother in Thomas.

Miss Mary Pitman was called home from Baltimore, by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Charles Pitman, Parsons.

Pfc. Eugene Hedrick Earns Bronze Star

Pfc. Eugene M. Hedrick, son of Mrs. Josephine Hedrick of 519 Pine avenue, Cumberland, was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal for heroism under fire at a special ceremony held at Moore General hospital's Reconditioning Center in west Asheville, N. C., on June 1. Pfc. Hedrick is a patient in the hospital.

A member of the Eighteenth Infantry, Pfc. Hedrick was in action in Normandy, France, on June 8, D Day plus two. He was serving with an anti-tank platoon which was dug in at a particularly important road junction.

According to the citation, "a large German tank forced had broken through the first line of defense. This attack was broken up by the accurate fire of Pfc. Hedrick's platoon." Six German Tiger tanks were knocked out, although heavy casualties were suffered by Pfc. Hedrick's heroic platoon.

Commission Is

ed few results, insofar as Allegheny and Garrett counties are concerned.

Quoting 1944 figures Crowe said that in that year 1,500 trout were placed in Allegheny county, 5,115 in Garrett, 6,350 in Washington and 12,650 in Frederick. He said it was a certain county, and West Virginia fishermen were buying non-resident licenses and going into Pennsylvania and West Virginia to fish, where he said streams were properly stocked. He contended that trout should be stocked where trout waters exist and not because an employee of the commission lives in a certain county, or because of the influence of friends.

Crowe in pointing out a remedy for the trout problem in Allegheny and Garrett counties urged the commission to hire an expert to make a thorough investigation of the conditions of trout streams; advocated putting a hatchery in this part of Maryland; voted oppositely to the construction of one large hatchery in any section; and said he believed Powell and Bentz were disinterested in the welfare of sportsmen in Allegheny and Garrett counties.

Just Beginning To Fight

In closing he warned the commission that the sportsmen in this section of Western Maryland are "just beginning to fight," and urged that the commission be brought on a par with Pennsylvania and West Virginia, urged the commission to ask for the resignation of Powell and Bentz.

Stewart in his address paid tribute to LeCompte and said the association had no quarrel with either him or the commission, but he believed that perhaps the commission was not fully aware of the conditions and he hoped that there might be an understanding on a number of things.

He asked why it costs more to raise trout in Maryland than it does in Pennsylvania and West Virginia and said he believed the commission should insist upon a fair distribution of trout; see that every effort is made to cut the cost of rearing trout; see that Garrett and Allegheny counties are given the consideration as other counties in the state.

If Powell and Bentz are unable to do that," Stewart said then the commission should ask for their resignations and replace them with men who can do a better job.

LeCompte Thanks Association

LeCompte in a brief talk thanked the club and its presidents and secretaries for their co-operation. He said that his hands were "clean of the trout controversy" and that he was going to keep them that way, adding that members of the commission were present and they would do the talking.

The state game warden pointed out that not all the money received from hunting and fishing licenses had been spent and reported that as of June 30, 1944 the unexpended balance from fishing licenses was $30,955 and from hunting licenses $11,208.48. He said there was an increase in fishing licenses in 1945 thus far and that receipts from hunting licenses this year would hit an all time high.

James Gambriell, of Frederick, commission member, pointed out that the last two or three years had been difficult ones in raising trout, pointing out that it was impossible to get proper help and food and pointed out that last year due to a severe drought there was not sufficient water for hatcheries. He said he would like to see more trout in Allegheny and Garrett counties, but stated the commission was doing the best it could with the money available and under present conditions. He suggested that sportsmen agree on stocking two of the best streams in Garrett county until they are properly stocked.

Garner Denenad, Baltimore, chairman of the commission, told the association members that if any favoritism is being shown, and it is found that Allegheny and Garrett are not getting their share, that the commission will see that they do get them.

Gordon Fleet, a member of the commission from Annapolis, said he would like to see this section of the state get more trout and that he believed more rearing ponds were needed.

Smith Outlines Remedies

The last commission member to speak, Fulcher P. Smith, of Ellerslie, said he believed the most important thing for the association and commission to do is to think things through, and not go off on a tangent. He declared there was a plenty of water in Garrett county, and he favored placing hatcheries in different locations so if there was bad luck at one there would not be at all. He added that rearing stations should be scattered over the state.

Smith declared that the association had reason to strenuously oppose the distribution of trout in recent years. He added that despite war conditions, etc., that neighboring states are rearing fish at eighty per cent of their normal capacity and that there was no reason it could not be done in Maryland.

He advocated three things—more interest on the part of the commission and its employees in Western Maryland as trout streams; fairer distribution of trout and a more business like production.

Rudolph Nickel, secretary of the club presided and Jonathan Sleeman, asked the invocation. Several prizes were distributed and a dinner and refreshments were served.

Mayor States Progress Of Recreation Program Is "Unsatisfactory"

Stating that he is "fed up" with members of the city council who are balking his plans for a recreational commission or board to handle Cumberland's playgrounds and other recreational activities, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday that "progress is very unsatisfactory and we aren't getting anywhere" after a meeting of the Cumberland park board.

Mayor Post quoted Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich as saying that the members of the council can supervise the playgrounds themselves, instead of appointing a trained playground supervisor. Commissioner Helfrich said he has the backing of the other commissioners, James Orr, William J. Edwards, and William E. McDonald, Mayor Post added.

It was decided at the meeting of the park board to open the swimming pool at Constitution park on Sunday, June 17, weather permitting, with Nestor "Red" Light as manager, assisted by Arthur J. Wilson. Other attendants at the pool will be selected from the personnel who worked there last year. Work of painting and renovating the pool and bath houses is now underway.

The board named Mrs. Florence Weisz as one of the two playground leaders at the East Side grounds, with the other position to be filled soon. Quita Barron notified the board that she is unable to accept a position at the West Side playground.

a year of training in Cumberland, or in the Black Hills of North Dakota or at Miami Beach than to have them go through what I have in the Pacific. We may never need to use our military machine, but I feel like Theodore Roosevelt, that it is better to have a Big Stick backing us up when we have to do any talking."

Describes Life in Pacific

Cmdr. Fitzpatrick gave a vivid picture of life in the Pacific islands, which he said are anything but the glamorous and enchanting places so many who believe in fairy tales have pictured. The dampness is so all-pervading, he said, that clothing, supplies, even writing material, rot away in mildew within a very short time. One can get an idea of the dampness, he said, by noting that in New Guinea at one time when he was there twenty-five inches of rain fell in twenty-four hours, and this was not unusual. At Tarawa, for instance, a temperature of 130 degrees is usual, although fortunately tempered by a sea breeze. The heat and dampness make recreation activities exceedingly difficult, the commander said.

There is much flying, most of it under the most hazardous conditions, the speaker said, not only in combat but in necessary missions otherwise, and a great deal of it is really miraculously done.

Housing, food and other conditions were described by the speaker, who said that on the atoll the servicemen have no milk or eggs, and eat dehydrated foods largely, although when ships are near the food is better. Those who eat dehydrated potatoes for weeks and months at a time

KILLED ON OKINAWA

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, June 5—It was decided last night at the meeting of the Tri-Towns Recreational Association at the Piedmont library, with Harold Baker presiding, to begin the playground program Monday, July 2. Friday evening of that week it will be officially opened with a band concert, community sing and parade.

The opening week will be held at the Bruce high school grounds and will alternate with Piedmont each week for eight weeks. The last week it will close with a band concert on the Piedmont high school grounds.

Seven hundred dollars has been the goal set as the cost of carrying out the program. Nearly $500 has been received, it was reported last night.

Larry Patterson, director of the program, stated that an eight-team softball league began games last night. The board of directors of the league, which has eight sponsors, includes Larry Patterson, chairman; James McKenry, Rodney Baker and Ellis Burke.

A trophy, to be presented the winning team, was ordered purchased after suggestion by Patterson.

Two leagues will be set up. Junior games will be played between 1 and 4:30 p. m. The seniors will begin at 6 p. m. Monday through Fridays.

The grounds of the Piedmont high school will take considerable work to be put into condition. It was decided that should be done Saturday, beginning at 10 a. m.

John E. Grindle and Patterson will point the work. Members of the Boy Scouts and all other boys of the Tri-Towns are invited to help with this work and bring tools, such as shovels, picks, grass hooks and rakes.

Swings, see-saws and sand boxes will be placed on both of the school grounds.

Director Patterson was instructed to contact Mayor Harold Fredrick, Piedmont, about giving permission to children to use the pool in the mornings from 10 to 12 o'clock.

The next meeting will be held Friday, June 15, at 8 p. m. at the library.

Organize Club

The Navy Mothers' club was organized last night at the auditorium of Bruce high school, Westernport. The purpose of the club was explained by Mrs. Mary Reed, commander of the Cumberland club.

Mothers, wives and sisters of navy, marine, coast guard or seabee men or of nurses and WAVE members are eligible.

Mrs. Guy McKenzie, who is assisting in organizing the club, has applications for membership. Another meeting will be held in two weeks.

To Deliver Address

The Rev. Raymond L. Moore, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont, W. Va., will deliver the address at the closing exercises of the Bloomington public school Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Bloomington Methodist church.

The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. W. M. DeShong, pastor.

"UNBLOCK" YOUR DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach
With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And where it gets blocked when it fails to digest properly.

Thus, what you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—you want something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out thoroughly and help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and thoroughly "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it—and you get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Troops and Individuals Receive Special Com- mendations

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, June 5 — Gen. Eisenhower awards were presented to the local scout troops for participating in the paper salvage campaign at a court of awards held at Troop 62's headquarters, the American Legion home of Kelly-Mansfield Post No. 52, Piedmont, Julian G. Patrick, district chairman, made the presentations.

Each troop received a shell container from the European battlefields labeled with General Eisenhower's picture. Each scout who collected 1,000 pounds of paper received a medal bearing General Eisenhower's likeness attached to a special service ribbon.

Troop 33, Alton Fortney, scoutmaster, received first prize for the troop making the greatest rate of progress and advancement in March and April. The prize was a telegram sending key, the gift of Lt. (j.g.) Okey Michaels, former advancement chairman.

Second prize was won by Troop 62, George Angle, scoutmaster, and third prize by Troop 36, Harry J. Biggs, scoutmaster. Prizes in each case were a set of signaling flags, the gift of Browne Kooker, district scout commissioner.

Scouts receiving Eisenhower award were: Troop 25 of Barton—Reginald Kyle, Carl Davis, Arnold Tichnell and Edward Robertson; Troop 30—Howard Jones, Charles Biggs, Donnie Close, Jack Graney, Allan Schaeffer, Kenneth McIntyre, Robert Kight, David Boal, Milton McIntyre, Suter Hudson, William Howe, Boyd Dixon, David McIntyre, Robert Roberts and French Ward; Troop 33—Robert E. Baughman, Donald R. Price, Wayne Haines, Anthony James, Joe Jenkins, Robert Donnelly, M. L. D. Rocco, William Greenhorn, James Rankin, Warren Ritchie, Eugene H. Marsh, George Habel, Thomas Faltory, Paul Cornwell, Asa Hilbert McDowell, Hobart Fazenbaker, Kenneth Smith and Francis Albanese;

New Mayor, Council Meet

The first meeting of the newly-elected mayor and Piedmont city council was held Friday evening. Salaries of the city clerk and assistant and street employees were increased.

The mayor, who was sworn in Friday morning by Mrs. Lillian Cole, city clerk, administered the oath of office to the councilmen: John Ward and William T. Davis, re-elected; E. J. Cheshire, elected at the recent election, and Charles Spicer, holdover councilman.

Naming a councilman to fill the unexpired term of Mayor Fredlock as a councilman was discussed. It was agreed to appoint Wright Welton, a chemist at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company, who was not a candidate for re-election.

The salaries of the city clerk and of the assistant clerk were raised $5 a month. W. E. Clark, in charge of street employees and city tools, and Dan Rose truck driver, are to receive sixty-five cents an hour. Kenneth Clark and George Hackley, street employees, are to receive sixty cents an hour.

Mrs. Cole was re-appointed city clerk; Ormond Ledlow, assistant city clerk; Joseph Eger, water plant operator, and Charles E. Dornon, chief of police.

It was ordered that the office of the city clerk be opened for business from 8 a. m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. Monday through Fridays and from 8 a. m. to noon Saturday.

Complaint blanks with carbon for copies have been provided for persons to fill out at the city office. Complaints will be brought before the mayor and council.

It was decided that another police officer be hired which would give the city two officers. To work at different hours most of the time.

The mayor and council ordered that blackjacks, now used by auxiliary policemen, should be turned in and exchanged for shorter night sticks.

Councilman William T. Davis suggested that signs be posted on the hill that dumping of garbage and tin cans on the street would not be permitted.

Councilman E. J. Cheshire suggested that the stop signs be replaced on West Hampshire street. It was ordered that Harry Taylor of the state road commission be requested to have this done since that portion of highway is maintained by the state road.

It was ordered that the city clerk write the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad Western Maryland railway to repair the Second and Third street walks over their crossings.

The meeting night of the mayor and council was changed from the first and third Monday of each month to the first and third Fridays.

Dr. Lieberman Speaks

Services will be held for Mrs. Maudie Lantz, 42, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. David Lantz, Bloomington, Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. She died today at 5:30 a. m. at her home near Bloomington.

The Rev. O. P. Brann, pastor of the Assembly of God church, Westernport, will officiate. Interment will be in the Bloomington cemetery.

Mrs. Lantz was a native of Germania, W. Va., a daughter of Mr. Frances Helmick, Bloomington, and the late Alfred Helmick. She had lived at Bloomington ten years and was in ill health a year.

Besides her mother she is survived by her widower, Cecil Lantz, three children by a previous marriage, Mrs. Lantz, Seaman James H. Lewis, in the Pacific theater, and Samuel A. Lewis, at home, and several brothers and sisters. The body is at the home of her daughter.

Hear of Son's Death
A letter to Mr. and Mrs. William Stowell, Westernport, parents of Pvt. Eugene R. Stowell, 27, from the Rev. William H. Pixley, Catholic chaplain, described Stowell's death in Italy, April 18.

The letter stated that Stowell died while making an attack against the enemy in Northern Italy. He received shell fragment wounds in both legs.

Pvt. Stowell served nineteen months with the ordnance department in the Egyptian desert before he was transferred to Sicily and later to Italy where he was attached to an infantry unit of the Fifth army. He was inducted at Camp Lee, Va., May 6, 1942 and trained at Camp Wheeler, Ga., and Aberdeen proving grounds.

Receives Silver Star

The Silver Star awarded to Staff Sgt. Patrick J. Stowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick A. Stowell, Baltimore, formerly of Westernport, has been received at Westernport by his grandmother Mrs. Rose Stowell.

Sgt. Stowell trained at Camp Campbell, Ky.; Camp Chaffee, Ark.; Camp Carson, Colo., and Fort George G. Meade. At Camp Campbell he graduated from the cooks and bakers school. He arrived in Ireland last November and was sent from there to England and later to France.

Plan Annual Event
The annual banquet and dance of the alumni association of St.

Peter's high school will be held at the high school auditorium, Westernport, Tuesday evening.

The banquet will be served at 6:30 p. m. by the Westernport and Luke Canteen club. Thomas J. Whelan, Jr., will be toastmaster. The dance will begin at 9 p. m.

Announce Marriage
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sowers, Orchard street, Piedmont, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lavella Bella Sowers, to Merchant Seaman Benjamin Earl Wilt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Wilt, Westernport, May 11 at the parsonage of the Oakland Methodist church. The Rev. R. C. Johnson officiated. Mrs. Lucian Dawson was the matron of honor.

Mrs. Wilt is a member of this year's graduating class of Piedmont high school and has accepted a civil service position at Washington. She will take up her duties after a short vacation.

Seaman Wilt is a graduate of Bruce high school class of 1942 and took his naval course at Davis and Elkins college, Elkins. After a thirty-day furlough he will return to duty in Baltimore.

Westernport Briefs
The monthly meeting of the Fidelis Bible class met at the home of Mrs. William Shaffer, Oak View, Westernport, Thursday night, with twelve members present. A box was packed for a boy in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Leighty, Ashfield street, Piedmont, have received the announcement of the marriage of their granddaughter, Dorothy Marie Leighty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone Leighty, Providence, R. I., to LeRoy J. Thomas, Pinole, Cal., at Reno, Nev., April 27. Mrs. Thomas has been employed by the government at Vallejo, Calif., for several months.

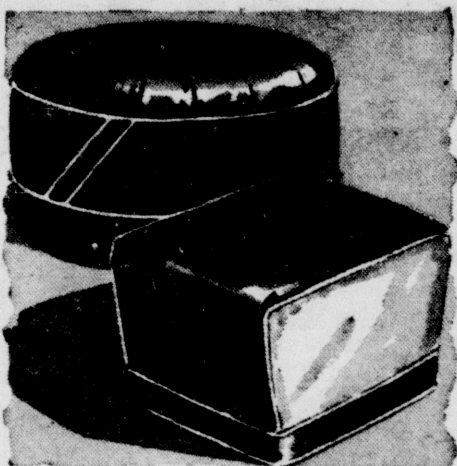

Services were held at the residence of her brother, Robert McCormick, Friday by the Rev. Stanley H. Jewell, pastor of the Barton Presbyterian church, for Miss Agnes McCormick, 77, who died Tuesday. Interment was in Laurel Hill cemetery at Moscow. Pallbearers were James Logsdon, Alvin Logsdon, William Logsdon, Henry Howell, Charles Howell and Kingley McCormick.

Alexis, Eastern Derby Hope, Takes Over at Churchill

Horsemen Pronounce Christiana Colt Mighty Tough Looking Horse

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, June 5 (AP)—Alexis, half of the one-two punch the east expects to land in Saturday's Kentucky derby, took over at Churchill Downs today when he joined some fifteen other three-year olds preparing for the $75,000 mile and one-quarter race.

Three lightly regarded Canadian horses, H. C. Hatch's Pair Jester and Kenilworth Lad and Bert G. Miller, also put in their appearance. But they were almost forgotten as horsemen looked at the well-knit son of the English stallion, Helios, from Henry Langer's Christiana farm and pronounced him a mighty tough looking horse.

Alexis's Workout Impresses
Before Alexis's arrival on the back stretch, owners and trainers of derby candidates discussed little except the workout turned in by the Christiana colt before leaving New York yesterday. He worked the derby distance in 2:05 3/5, the last quarter in 24 3/5 seconds. That's less than two seconds off the time turned in by the speedy Count Fleet in winning two years ago.

Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep, favorite in a field that lacks the class of other years, and Andrew Wright's Jacobie will arrive tomorrow, completing the contingent that will parade to the post around 5:30 p. m. Central War Time. Off Jeep's Wood Memorial performance and Alexis's workout, they figure to be a mighty tough combination to beat.

Best Effort Withdrawn
F. W. Hooper's Hoop Jr., considered the third of the eastern invaders already owned by a Jacksonville, Fla., contractor, has been on the grounds for several days and has impressed in short workouts.

Meanwhile, the size of the field remained status quo. Best Effort, recently purchased by Joe Paley, was ordered withdrawn by his Los Angeles owner and will leave the Downs within a day or so. But John Goode said he definitely would name Tiger Rebel, owned jointly by Ned Brent and William Talbot, of Paris, Ky. Arthur Rose, of Mt. Clemens, Mich., stuck by his decision to pass the Kentucky Oaks on Friday and run his filly, Misweet, in the derby.

Shall be the only filly starter since Gold Seeker in 1936. Tiger Rebel worked a mile in 1:43 and Misweet stepped an impressive mile and one-eighth in 1:53 1/5 as the name horses' workouts were confined to gallops.

Sale of Jamaica Race Plant Looms
NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—A man's vow to perpetual poverty may bring about the sale of Jamaica race track, right little Long Island plant where 64,000 spectators gathered Memorial day to establish two world betting records.

William Helis, New Orleans sportsman who paid $68,000 for the colt Pericles two years ago, is reported the high bidder with an offer of $400,000 for the track which a member of the Society of the Sisters of St. Vincent de Paul inherited a year ago.

Because of her vow, she turned the legacy over to the religious order located at Mount St. Vincent in the Hudson, N. Y.

The track was built by Big and Little Tim Sullivan, two New York politicians, Eugene Wood and Matt Corbett in 1903. Wood and Corbett, who married sisters, owned approximately fifty per cent of the stock and also purchased a part of the Aqueduct track.

Upon their deaths they bequeathed their properties to their widows. The women sold the Aqueduct interests but retained their Jamaica holdings. Mrs. Wood died in 1940 and bequeathed the major part of her fortune to Mrs. Corbett. Mrs. Corbett died a year ago and willed her holdings to Sister Miriam Barnard, identified in Mrs. Wood's will as a sister of the two women.

The nun, because of her vows, was unable to retain the fortune and the bequest went to her order.

Aquatic Season Nears Law Instructs Kiddies
12 M-A Stars Survive
Fictitious Names Used

With the approach of the swimming season, one of the busiest men in town at the present time is Raymond "Ike" Law, who is engaged in lining up children's classes which he conducts annually at Celanese pool.

Law's specialty is teaching youngsters how to swim and he has devoted much of his time in recent years to crippled children and those suffering lung trouble. "Ike" who is recognized as the section's outstanding aquatic instructor, regards swimming as the No. 1 developer of arm, leg and chest muscles and his classes include many crippled girls and boys who have been turned over to him on the recommendation of physicians.

The graying maestro says that the aquatic sport has been most helpful to youngsters with lung ailments because of the fact that proper breathing instruction while in the water plays an important part in the development of that part of the body.

"Ike" gets great kick out of instructing the kids how to swim. In fact, the veteran instructor who has dabbled in all sorts of sports since the days preceding and following the First World War, says swimming is his first love.

Over a stretch of twenty-five years, Law has taken an interest in practically all the major sports. When he was in the navy he taught boxing and he was a close personal friend of Johnny Buff, one-time fly-weight champion. He promoted baseball and football teams in Cumberland and for many years umpired baseball games and refereed basketball contests.

He still gets a chuckle out of the stunt he attempted here in the 1920s—that of swimming under the ice in the Potomac river from the Moose club to the Blue bridge which spans the stream between Cumberland and Ridgeley. He was chopped in the ice at both points and "Ike" was to enter near the Moose club and swim beneath about four inches of ice and emerged from the other hole near the bridge.

It was a frigid afternoon when hundreds of spectators gathered on the bridge and lined the banks on both sides of the river to see "Ike" perform what many thought was a dangerous stunt, because if he missed the lower opening in the ice Mr. Law would have been just a memory.

"Ike" was prepared to give the spectators a thrill but as the howl approached for him to perform the police stopped the show, very much to Mr. Law's disappointment as well as that of the crowd.

Recalling the incident the other day, "Ike" related that he had accomplished the feat with ease if the police hadn't stopped him. "Why you would have thought I was trying to commit suicide," quoth he.

Perusing the major league box scores one finds that the crop of minor league stars who went up to the "big show" when Cumberland was in the Middle Atlantic league has dwindled from approximately thirty to an even dozen players.

Eight of the twelve still on the roster once wore the spangles of the Scottdale and Wheeling teams.

Scottdale, which incidentally was an outstanding major league "farm" club in the old Mid-Atlantic was a part of Branch Rickey's St. Louis Cardinal system of bygone days. Mike Ryba and Jimmy Bucher, of the Boston Red Sox; Joe Medwick, of the Giants; Dick Barrett and Bill Lee, of the Phillies, are all products of the Pennsylvania milltown team.

Gerald Walker, of the Reds; George McQuinn, of the Browns and "Pete" Fox, of the Boston Red Sox, were former Wheeling Stooges. Eddie Mayo, of Detroit, is a graduate of Huntington; Max Butcher, of the Pirates, once threw em platward for "Ike" Law. The power of the Senators, was in the Hagerstown outfield when it was in the old M. A. Joe Cronin, manager of the Sox, now nursing injuries, was with the "powerful" Johnstown club of 1925, which also sent Jimmy "Ripper" Collins and Eddie Montague to the majors.

Believe it, or not, but three former Scottdale stars who later made good in the majors came into the Middle Atlantic under fictitious names.

Fordham Johnny Murphy, the "fireman" of the New York Yankees for many years, was known in the league as Johnny McNamara, and what a pitcher he was! Joe Medwick came in as Joe King but his correct name was used in mid-season after he set the league afire with his clouting.

The present Dick Barrett, of the Phillies, hurried for Scottdale under the name of Dick Oliver. He is the oldest of the four Barretts now in the majors. A product of the Philadelphia sandlots, he played for Connie Mack under the name of Oliver, pitched later in the Pacific Coast league. Kewpie Barrett, returned to the Phillies as Tracy S. Barrett and is now plain Dick. He's noted for being a workhorse and although in his thirty-seventh year he is still pitching a good article of ball for a last place club.

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Marino Pieretti hurled Washington's Senators to an even break with New York tonight, winning the second game of a twilight-night twin bill, 7-3, after the Yankees had pounded out a 12-3 victory.

The Senators gave little Pieretti a five-run margin in their first turn at bat by staging their biggest rally of the season at the expense of Bill Bevens.

Nick Etten rapped out a single and three doubles, driving in four runs as the Yankees fired a nineteen-hit attack in the first game. The Yankees piled up a 9-2 lead off Mickey Haefer in four innings and Alton Donald easily posted his fifth victory against two losses. The first-game box:

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Joe Schultz's ninth-inning pinch single that scored George McQuinn, who had walked, gave the champion St. Louis Browns a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox before 10,214 fans in the first night game of the season in Comiskey park. Al Hollingsworth held the Sox to three hits in winning his second game of the season.

Betty Jameson Joins Pro Ranks
By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—Betty Jameson, twice the women's national amateur golf champion, turned professional today.

Twenty-minutes after signing a contract to represent a sports equipment manufacturer, she was enroute to the company's factory in Springfield, Mass., to talk with workmen concerning her ideas about women's golf equipment.

The 26-year-old Texan said she would spend much of her time in the future in exhibitions and holding golf clinics but that she would continue tournament play wherever possible. She added that she expected to play in the women's open at Spokane, Wash., in August.

Miss Jameson won the National women's crown in 1939 and retained it a year later. She returned to the links this spring and lost to Mrs. George Zaharias, of Los Angeles, the former Babe Didrikson, in a seventy-two-hole match played both in San Antonio and Los Angeles for war charities. The event attracted 8,000 spectators.

Elks at Moose (Allegheny)

The B.P.O. Elks were knocked out of a three-way tie for first place in the Rocking Chair Softball League last evening when they bowed, 5-1, to Woodmen of the World at Fort Hill.

The L.O.O.M. Moose and Knights of Columbus remained on even terms at the top of the standing by registering 9-8 victories. The Moose edged out the Cumberland Outdoor Club at Community park with a four-run uprising in the last of the seventh inning, and the Caseys came from behind in the top of the seventh to turn back Texel, 9-8, at Campobello.

The Moose saw a 5-1 lead wiped out in the fifth and sixth innings. In the fifth, the Outdoorers scored three times on singles by Patton, Twigg, Puffenberger and Johnson and an error and in the following frame, five more runners crossed the plate. Jacopi, starting Moose twirler, gave up six singles in the sixth. A single, two walks and a fielder's choice gave the Outdoor club its other run in the first.

The Moose seventh started with a walk to Thomas. Jim Angellatta clouted his third hit—a double to right. Jackson was safe on an error. Evans forced Jackson. Hambleton doubled to left to tie the score and Bud Russ Minnick won his own game with a single to right.

The winners tallied in the first on singles by John Angellatta, Goodrich and Jim Angellatta. Three additional markers were registered in the third on Jackson's single, an error and a walk and Wade's double. The Moose, who aided their cause with two double plays, were led at the plate by Jim Angellatta, with three for four, and Minnick, with two for three. Twigg had three for three for the Outdoor crew.

The Caseys, trailing 7-5 going into the last inning, pulled the game out of the fire when Jim Brownning doubled. "Bobby" Cavanaugh singled. Conley grounded out, Garlitz singled. Fretwell was safe on an error and Paul Stakem and Sangiovanni each singled.

Browning went the route for K. of C. although touched for fourteen hits, including three singles by each Fretwell and Deremer. Cavanaugh had a double and two singles and Garlitz three singles for the Caseys. Bob Hobell pitched the Woodmen to victory over the Elks. Mel Henry worked on the slab for the B.P.O.E. George Schoenadel starred in short field for W.O.W. The scores:

True Loss Scores At Charles Town

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., June 5 (AP)—A. A. Miller's True Lass copied the McGuire purse, best offering on the Charles Town Jockey Club's program today, by a length and a half over Shangri-la stable's Dicky to pay an $18 mutual.
True Lass was timed in 1:22 for the six and one-half furlongs. E. B. Lee's Chop Sticks, which drew the bulk of the wagering, was third. The ultimate winner took command at the club house turn and led all the way around, while Dicky and Chop Sticks held their second and third positions throughout.
The daily double paid $98.60. It was built from victories by Mrs. G. C. Everhart's Titian, at $1.60, and J. B. Michael's Walter Light, at $40.

In other games, DeMolay will oppose Bedford Road in a Northern engagement at Allegany, the Police Boys and Block Busters will meet at Community park in a Southern scrap, the North End Colts and Royale Dairy will stage an inter-division encounter at Penn avenue and Jerry's Confectioners and South End Cleaners will play a Southern contest at Locust Grove. All games will start at 5:30.

In previous meetings, Bedford Road defeated DeMolay, 11-7; the Police Boys blanked the Block Busters, 6-0, and the Cleaners trimmed the Confectioners, 13-8.

Noble Orchestra Succeeds Sinalra Radio Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP) — The Frank Sinatra show is off the air for the summer, and in its place on CBS at 9 is another feature built around the orchestra of Ray Noble with the aid of guests. Ray Noble is continuing on the air while the Charlie McCarthy series of NBC goes on vacation.

Sinalra, who the last two broadcasts before vacation was away from the microphone, has all the arrangements made for an overseas USO tour, his first.

Morton Downey, now of MBS, whose sponsor also runs the Spotlight bands of the Blue, will drop around for that rival network show at 9:30 when the Ted Weems band does the playing from before a group of war workers at Detroit.

Eddie Cantor, now on a War bond tour away from Hollywood, will do his NBC broadcast at 9 from Hunter College, N. Y., with a group of WAVES in training there as the studio guests.

Road Ahead, the Blues hospitalized servicemen series, has billed Edward G. Robinson as guest. The program is at 9 o'clock. Eileen Farrell will sing the fifteen-minute contest on CBS at 6:30 in place of Sally Moore.

Robert T. McLaughlin Is Fined on Assault Charge

Charged with assaulting his aunt, Mrs. Flossie Boch, Robert T. McLaughlin, "B" street, LaVale, was fined $15.00, including costs, at a hearing in trial magistrates court yesterday before Magistrate Frank A. Perdue.

McLaughlin was also found guilty of assaulting Mrs. Boch's husband, but the fine on the second charge was suspended.

Wilda Shanholzer, 24 Mary street, forfeited $6.45 bond when she failed to appear for a hearing on charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license. She was arrested on North Mechanic street May 24 by State Trooper A. M. Spioch.

Villages 'Doomed'

BELCHAMP ST. PAUL, England (AP) — Rev. E. Powell, vicar of this Kent settlement, says small villages in England are "doomed." Population of his own village has dropped from 880 in 1891 to 340.

The Answer: Yes

LONDON (AP) — That old poser: "Does a fly turn over before he lands on a ceiling?" has been answered by high-speed movies. The insect performs a "half-roll" in alighting, coming to rest at a slight angle to the original direction of flight.

ard of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and loss of our beloved mother and sister, Mrs. Marion Udy. We are grateful to those who loaned cars for the funeral and to those who sent floral tributes and letters of sympathy.

HER DAUGHTER AND SISTERS.
6-6-11-N

We take this means of expressing sincere thanks to those who were so sympathetic and helpful following the sudden death of our beloved husband and brother, Joseph Appell. We also wish to thank the Rev. Edward Heinze, to those who loaned cars for the funeral and to those who sent floral tributes and letters of sympathy.

MOTHER, BROTHERS AND SISTERS.
6-6-11-N

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement. The death of our husband and father, Richard Appell, was a great loss to our family. We are grateful to those who loaned cars for the funeral and to those who sent floral tributes and letters of sympathy.

THE FAMILY.
6-6-11-N

We wish to thank all who in any way assisted at the final rites for Karl W. F. Appell, to those who loaned cars for the funeral, sent floral tributes, and to the service of Dr. Bowers, Mr. Knight and Mr. Slick.

Memoriam
In loving memory of Pvt. Ralph W. Appell, Westernport, Md., who was killed in the invasion of Normandy one year ago today, June 6th, 1944.

The blow was hard, the shock severe, never thought his death so near. Leaving thoughts will ever wander, to the spot where he is laid.

And know how much we miss him, never shall his memory fade. Leaving thoughts will ever wander, to the spot where he is laid.

Commission Is Informed Trout Distribution Is Not Satisfactory

Speakers Contend Allegany and Garrett Neglected; Members Promise Investigation

State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte and four members of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission last night heard two members of the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association reiterate the previously expressed opinion of the Association that Allegany and Garrett county are not receiving a fair share of trout being distributed in the state by agents of the commission.

The speakers were Fred A. Crowe, former mayor of Frostburg, and A. Charles Stewart, both past presidents of the sportsmen's association, who spoke at a dinner-meeting of the association held in the Gunter hotel. Crowe and Stewart outlined the objections of the association to the distribution of trout and gave figures to substantiate their arguments.

Traces Club's History

Crowe, the first speaker, traced the beginning of the sportsmen's association from the fall of 1940 and said its formation was the result of a closed squirrel season in Allegany and Garrett counties. He said since the association was organized the commission has co-operated with it in recommendations made for legislation and changes in game regulations. The former mayor also praised the commission for seeing that Allegany and Garrett counties received their share of game.

Crowe devoted most of his address to a detailed report on trout stocking in the state in the last seven years, showing a comparison between the number of trout stocked in Washington and Frederick counties with the number stocked in Allegany and Garrett. He pointed out that it was an undisputed fact that the best trout streams in the state are in Garrett county, but said that despite that fact, more trout are stocked in Washington and Frederick. Quoting from the commission's report he declared that in the last seven years 298,118 trout were stocked in the state, but of that number only 83,360 were stocked in Garrett and Allegany.

Criticizes Powell and Bentz

The former association president laid most of the blame for what he termed unfair distribution, upon Frank L. Bentz, administrative assistant of the commission, and Albert Powell, state fish culturist. He said the men made a lot of promises and gave a lot of alibis, but produced nothing.

CONTRACT CHANGES TO BE EXPLAINED TO RUBBER WORKERS

Local 36, United Rubber Workers of America, will hold a special meeting Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Rubber Workers hall, South Mechanic street, to hear a report on changes in the contract between the union and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. John H. Aman, administrative assistant of the union, announced last evening.

The special meeting will take the place of the regular meeting, which was scheduled for tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, and was postponed to allow all members to attend.

Officers of the union will read and explain changes in the contract, and the board of directors will report on the contract since the contract was formally approved.

The following officers, Aman said, will be filled by nomination and election at the special meeting:

Financial secretary - treasurer; one member to the Executive Board; Division chairman for Division 3 and 6, and a delegate to District 1 council meeting.

Stanley R. Fretwell was re-elected grand knight of Cumberland Council No. 866, Knights of Columbus, at the annual meeting last evening in the K. of C. home. He was also elected delegate to the supreme convention.

Other officers named for the ensuing year are: Edward A. Cosgrove, deputy grand knight; John Aaron, treasurer; Kenneth Chidlow, secretary; Francis Lambert, recorder; August Fogman, advocate; J. W. Higgins, treasurer; Joseph A. Coleman, trustee; Joseph McDade, inner guard; James Browning, outside guard; Patrick J. Hopkins, delegate to the state convention in 1946; John Cregan, alternate to the grand knight; Walter E. Gunther, alternate to the delegate.

A home committee comprising James Browning, Sylvester Shirliff, Patrick Hopkins, Robert Davis and James Reinhardt was also elected.

Two Local Boys Qualify For Navy Training

Two Cumberland youths, both 17, who have qualified for service as navy combat air crewmen, will report to Baltimore to be sworn in to the navy as second class, after which they will return home on inactive duty for a short time, according to Chief Petty Officer Walter E. Warmen, in charge of navy recruiting.

They are Richard L. Buey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Buey, 402 Memorial avenue, and John M. Shirley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan W. Shirley, 829 Gephart drive. Buey has completed his junior year at Fort Hill high school and Shirley was a graduate of Allegany high school last year.

When the youths are called to active duty they will report to Memphis, Tenn., for fourteen months of training as aerial gunners with a specialty of ordnance, mechanics or radio.

Salvage Program Gets Good Rating

WPB Officials Term Local Organization Best in Five States

Cumberland's salvage program has been rated the best in five states surveyed by the War Production Board, Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said yesterday after a meeting of the chamber's mercantile bureau when the paper holiday program was considered.

WPB officials investigated salvage programs in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and parts of West Virginia and found that none are as complete or so well handled as in Cumberland, Smith stated. W. Donald Smith is chairman of the salvage committee.

While Cumberland's program of salvaging all types of critically needed materials, including tin and paper, is well advanced, the paper holiday remains of considerable importance, the chamber secretary said.

He added that the merchants agreed to co-operate in the paper holiday program and help in every way possible. They will display posters, to be distributed through the National Biscuit Company and the chamber of commerce, urging customers to accept unwrapped packages.

Merchants yesterday reviewed their activities in connection with the Seventh War Loan drive, including the Donutmobile which appeared here recently for three days.

Additional Western Maryland Veterans May Return Home

BALTIMORE, June 5 (AP) — Howard M. Norton, Baltimore Sun-papers war correspondent, reported from Europe that the following Marylanders in the Twenty-ninth Division are eligible to return to the United States under the point system and to get army discharges if they are not considered essential:

T-5 Ephraim J. Clover, Cumberland; T-4 Roy R. Glatfelter, Henry; Pvt. Charles C. Harper, Cumberland; T-5 John R. Imes, Frostburg; and Pvt. Arthur J. Lynch and Sgt. John E. Matthews, Cumberland, all serving with the One Hundred and Tenth field artillery battalion.

T-5 Joseph F. Aman, Cpl. Thomas E. Buey and Sgt. William B. Burke, Cumberland; Sgt. Richard E. DeBerry, Oakland; T-5 Charles R. Grove, Westminster; Pvt. Aloysius Lynch, Cumberland; Pvt. John M. Morgan, Luke; T-5 Austin J. McKenzie, Avilton; Sgt. Lawrence W. Miller, Pinto; Cpl. Daniel Riley, Mt. Lake Park; Pvt. Lester L. Twigg, Cumberland; T-5 John S. Suter, Friendsville; Pvt. Melvin S. Valentine, Cumberland; and Sgt. Daniel L. White and Pvt. Roy T. White, both of Mt. Lake Park, of the One Hundred and Seventy-fifth infantry regiment.

Texaco Offers Leave To GI's for Studies; Also Financial Aid

A special leave of absence will be granted to employees of The Texas Company who return from military service and who desire to take advantage of the Servicemen's Readjustment act of 1944, the GI Bill, to pursue studies that will benefit them in their future association with the company, according to a letter received yesterday by Leroy R. Jenkins, chairman of the board.

In addition, financial assistance in the form of loans without interest will be extended to these veterans in cases where the amount available under the law may be inadequate. The leave is for one year, subject to extension at the end of each year, provided the employee is making satisfactory progress in his studies. The educational leave is available to any employee who had at least four months' service with Texaco before entering military service.

Employees' benefits under the company's life insurance, pension and hospitalization plans will continue as though the employee were in active company service.

Upon the employees' return to company service, full consideration will be given to the knowledge and skill he required while on educational leave and to his accumulated seniority with the company, including the period of his leave.

Of the more than 5,000 employees of The Texas Company on military leave eighty-eight are from the Norfolk district, which includes Cumberland.

Jenkins said the eighty-eight include two employees of the company's bulk plant on Potomac street, this city.

Navy Veteran Makes Fervent Plea For Compulsory Military Training

Rotarians heard a fervent plea yesterday at their weekly luncheon at the Central YMCA for some sort of compulsory military training. It was made by Cmdr. John Fitzpatrick, U.S.N.R., a Frederick lawyer, who is now practicing his profession there since recently being placed on inactive duty after four years of service in the intelligence branch of the navy, during which he was in the Pacific and most of the countries of Europe.

Describing life in the Pacific, which he had been asked to discuss, Cmdr. Fitzpatrick said the most impressive scenes there were the little white crosses, row on row, at American cemeteries. And these he declared, made the men of the armed services stop and think: "Why?" and "What of the future?"

Must Not Fall Again

The entire group of 130 pupils presented, in addition to the renditions of the certificate group, rhythm band and vocal pieces.

Gurley Says Air Service for City Starts in July

Freight and Passenger Operations Will Cover Most of Maryland

Air service for Cumberland—both passenger and freight—will be inaugurated during the month of July by Pan-Maryland Airways, Inc., it was announced yesterday by Oscar Gurley, of the airport committee.

Gurley said that Pan-American Airways, Inc. will place in service the first of a fleet of small transport planes, a type not heretofore marketed, to be used in air freight and taxi operations covering most of Maryland.

The company expects to put approximately forty planes in service, some for passengers only and others with the seats removed for cargo.

According to information received by Gurley, the new airline will base at Baltimore with routes landing out to cover most of the state. One route will run to Ocean City with five-minute intermediate stops at Annapolis, Easton, Cambridge and Salisbury. A second run between Baltimore and Cumberland will also serve Frederick, Westminster and Hagerstown.

As soon as the company can get delivery on a sufficient number of planes it expects to run flights on each of the routes every fifteen and thirty minutes.

Fares will range about midway between bus and rail. Gurley has been advised that the fare from Baltimore to Easton will be $1.60 and from Baltimore to Cumberland $4.

Two Elks Medals Will Be Awarded

The families of two Cumberland servicemen who have been killed in action, Cpl. John F. Graney and Staff Sgt. David W. Sloan, Jr., will receive the Elks medal of valor for their acts at Flagg day ceremonies to be broadcast over Station WTBO Thursday, June 14, at 7:30 p. m., according to Harry I. Stegmayer, exalted ruler of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks.

The occasion will mark the second and third presentations of the medal, which will be the principal speaker at the local observance of Flagg day by the lodge, will discuss the history of the American flag.

Other officers who will take part in the exercises are Michael F. O'Neill, Jr., esteemed leading knight; P. Marcellus Mullan, esteemed loyal knight; Robert B. Walker, esteemed leading knight; and Walter S. Chaney, chaplain.

The Elks' quartet, composed of Dr. W. Royce Hodges, William C. Hartsock, James M. Pitkethly and Kenneth P. Beck, will sing several selections.

Injured in Fall

Mrs. Viola Knight, 110 Washington street, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday at 6:45 p. m. for an injury to the right ankle. Mrs. Knight told attaches she was injured yesterday afternoon when she fell down a pair of steps. X-rays will be taken today to determine the extent of injury.

PE Will Spend $75,000 for Smoke Control Device

The Potomac Edison Company is giving study to the purchase of equipment costing approximately $75,000 which can be installed at its local steam power generating station as a supplement to present equipment for the control of smoke, it was learned here today.

Henry W. Price, district manager in verifying the report stated that his company's engineers have been studying the problem for some time. He said that they are making extensive investigations as to what might be done to further reduce materially any dust resulting from P.E.'s operations in this city.

According to Price, laboratory tests reveal that coal fly-ash, which is the only dust that can come from the P.E. stack, makes up less than twenty-five per cent of the samples of deposits from the immediate neighborhood of the plant.

In 1938, when the new P.E. plant was built, a Cottrell electric precipitator was installed as a precaution against fly-ash leaving the stack and falling over Cumberland. At that time it was the most efficient device known to restrain dust produced by burning coal. Price said.

It was explained that with the nation's military situation improved by the defeat of Germany, P.E. engineers expect approvals on materials needed to manufacture and install the additional equipment at the local plant to be possible in the reasonably near future.

Henry Hart Post Honors Reynolds, Vice Commander

Membership Soars to 1,303; Mrs. Ada Hamburg Sells 1,000 Poppies

Honored for acquiring the largest number of new members in the last sixty days, Raymond Reynolds, senior vice commander, was presented a handmade leather billfold at a meeting last evening of the Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Reynolds, who is membership chairman, announced that the local post now has 1,303 members.

Announcement was made that the ladies' auxiliary unit sold 8,000 poppies on Saturday, May 26, and that Mrs. Ada Hamburg was credited with selling 1,000, the largest number ever disposed of by an auxiliary member on "Poppy Day." Funds derived from the annual sale go toward the relief of veterans.

Post Makes Contributions

The post voted to sponsor five boys at the summer camp of the Cumberland Police Boys' Club at $11 each, and contributed $25 to The Salvation Army's mortgage and improvement fund.

A letter from James W. Butterfield, state chairman of the immigration and naturalization service, Department of Justice, congratulating the post for the success of its "I Am An American Day" program was read.

Twenty-five members were delegated to attend initiation ceremonies of John R. Webb Post, scheduled for Sunday, June 10, in Frederick. The group will be headed by John R. Pike, commander.

David Ranker, publicity chairman, announced that a number of interesting letters were received from servicemen overseas and Verner Winner, post service officer, gave a report on claims handled for servicemen and their families.

Forrest G. Snider, of the United States Navy, who is back from the Pacific war theater, spoke briefly on his experiences. He is a son of E. G. A. Snider, post member.

Other guests included Noah R. Carver, home on furlough from the navy, and Philip L. Edmunds, discharged navy man who saw service in the South Pacific.

Call Special Meeting

William L. McKenzie, district commander, announced a special meeting for Sunday, June 17, at 4:30 p. m., at which time a district commander will be elected by delegates from Frostburg, Hagerstown, Frederick and Cumberland.

Charge Is Dismissed

A Paw Paw, W. Va., youth, Leland Fowler, reported missing from his home since May 7, is being held in the county jail pending his return to his home. Fowler was arrested yesterday morning while loitering on B and O property. Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in dismissing a loitering charge, explained the youth is scheduled to be inducted into the armed forces June 18.

Group Names Five Members To Serve On Executive Board

Five persons were elected to serve on the executive board of the Allegany County Co-ordinating Council for social agencies at the final meeting for the summer of the council yesterday at 5:30 p. m. in the Board of Education building, Washington street.

They are: James E. Spitznas, chairman of the council, whose previous two-year term as a member of the board expired this year; Mrs. Elmer Westerfield, executive secretary of the county welfare board; Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools; Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of the Central YMCA; and Ray W. Eves, secretary of the Cumberland and Community Chest.

The remaining five members of the council who will continue in office for another year are Mrs. A. M. Lichtenstein, Mrs. J. Orville Fier, Mrs. Katherine Weatherholt, Sheriff David Steele, and Dr. Albert C. Cook.

It was suggested at the meeting that an amendment to the constitution be made, providing that any member of the executive board who fails to attend a majority of the council meetings during the first year of his term in office should be replaced. The suggestion will be put to vote at the first fall meeting of the council.

Election of officers for the executive board and the council will be held at a meeting of the board at 12:15 p. m. Saturday at the Central YMCA.

Former Resident Dies in Baltimore

Hobart Cecil Garr, 41, a former resident of this city, died suddenly Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at his home, 314 Riverside road, Baltimore, after he suffered an attack of acute indigestion.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad fireman lived at 145 North Mechanic street, until two years ago when he moved to Baltimore.

He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and attended the Assembly of God church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Daisy Showalter Carr, he is survived by two sons, Pfc. Hansel W. Carr, with the army in Czechoslovakia, and Cleith Carr, at home; four daughters, Wanda, Annie, Dolores and Roberta, all at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Carr, Hendricks, W. Va.

Six brothers, Peter, Elkins, W. Va.; Stanley, Floyd, Glenn and Warren Carr, all of Hendricks, and Pvt. Robert Carr, with the army in Burma, and seven sisters, Mrs. Lillie Plaugher, Mrs. Retha White, Mrs. Nellie Wamsley, Mrs. Margie Long, and Hazel, Dovie and Mary Carr, all of Hendricks, also survive.

The body arrived here last evening and was taken to the Heifer funeral home where it will remain until the funeral services. Arrangements were incomplete last evening but interment will be in Bier cemetery, near Rawlings.

MRS. BEALL RITES

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, 547 Greene street, for Mrs. Ella M. Beall, 65, wife of Joseph E. Beall, who died yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at her home after an illness of three months.

The Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment will be in the Methodist cemetery in Mt. Savage.

Mrs. Beall was a daughter of the late Samuel L. and Caroline Piper. Besides her husband, she is survived by four sons, Lester, William E., George A. and Carlton, all of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Deffenbaugh, Westminster, and Mrs. Florence Deffenbaugh, LaVale.

MRS. JENKINS RITES

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Evans, 603 Kent avenue, for Mrs. Flora Elizabeth Jenkins, 32, wife of Fred W. Jenkins, who was found dead at her home, 117 Wilmont avenue, early Monday morning.

The Rev. C. N. Hutchinson, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest cemetery.

JOHN HERSHBARGER RITES

Funeral services for John Hershbarger, 78, who died Saturday afternoon at the home of his grandson, Donald Chenoweth, Narrows Park, after a long illness, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Chenoweth home, 117 Wilmont avenue, early Monday morning.

The Rev. Thomas Ward Kemp, pastor of Park Place Methodist church, officiated. Interment was in Hillcrest cemetery.

Coyle Brothers Market Moved to New Location

The Coyle Brothers Sanitary Market, located on Virginia avenue for more than twenty years, has been moved to new quarters at 232 Virginia avenue.

Cancellation of War Contracts Brings Cutbacks on Shell Line

Cutbacks, which come as a result of cancellation of war contracts, are beginning to be felt locally due to the layoff of 192 employees at the shell line of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company during the month of May, according to Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the Cumberland office of the United States Employment Service.

Carroll said that a reduction of approximately fifty per cent in the production of shells was noted at the local plant and as a result 162 men and thirty women workers were released during the month. Fifty-eight of those laid off, however, were given employment at the tire manufacturing plant of the company, which is still hiring workers, the USES manager said. Forty-six males and twelve females were transferred to the tire division. Most of those who failed to obtain employment were residents of distant points in West Virginia and Pennsylvania who came to Cumberland when war jobs were plentiful.

Odberl R. Poling Is Elected New Ridgeley Mayor

Defeats Morgan by 101 Votes; Two New Councilmen Elected

Odberl R. Poling was elected mayor of Ridgeley last evening by the margin of 101 votes over Paul K. Morgan, who was seeking his sixth consecutive two-year term as chief executive of the West Virginia municipality.

The new mayor, who is proprietor of a Ridgeley service station, president of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club and employee of the Cumberland Bolt and Forge Shop of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, received a total of 306 votes while his opponent obtained 196 ballots.

Three of the incumbent councilmen, namely, Floyd A. Decker, A. R. Kelso and William D. Bidingier, were re-elected along with two newcomers, D. O. Scharfberger and J. F. Valentine.

The vote for town council was as follows:

Floyd A. Decker	370
A. R. Kelso	358
D. O. Scharfberger	244
William D. Bidingier	248
J. F. Valentine	241
J. C. Arrington	228
Robert K. Baker	203
W. C. Krieger	197
Vernon Hill	181

William C. Cornelius, unopposed, was elected town recorder. He received 319 votes.

Forty-five per cent of the registered vote went to the polls on election day. A total of 503 out of a registration of 1,100 cast ballots.

The new administration will take office on July 1.

Four Persons Treated In Local Hospitals Following Accidents

Charles E. Robinson, 26, of 306 Grand avenue, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday morning for an injury to the right side of the head. The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory worker told attaches he was injured when a disk handle struck him while he was at work.

Pave Murrell, 20, Ridgeley, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday at 2 p. m. for a left ankle injury. The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory worker was injured yesterday morning when an iron bar dropped on her ankle, attaches were told. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of injury.

Lloyd Twigg, 11-year-old son of Mrs. F. Charles Twigg, 726 Baker street, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday morning for a left eye injury suffered, he told attaches, when he was struck by a baseball bat at Johnson Heights school.

James Campbell, 61, of 948 Gay street, was treated in Allegany hospital for a cut on the third finger of the left hand. He told attaches the hand was cut on a rusty box while at work behind the hospital.

Coyle Brothers Market Moved to New Location

The Coyle Brothers Sanitary Market, located on Virginia avenue for more than twenty years, has been moved to new quarters at 232 Virginia avenue.

Ryan Wins Bronze Star

Capt. William H. Ryan, husband of Mrs. Virginia Downs Ryan, LaVale, received the Bronze Star, according to word sent to his wife.

A dentist attached to a medical unit, Capt. Ryan had dental offices on Virginia avenue before entering the army two years ago. He has been overseas seventeen months and was with the invasion troops in Normandy-D-Day. He also holds three battle stars.

Pfc. Grinstead Freed

Pfc. Logan O. Grinstead, brother of Mrs. James Leslie, RFD 1, is among those listed in a government release as liberated from German prisoner of war camps.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cookman, Romney, W. Va., announce the birth of a son in Memorial hospital Monday evening.

WAC Recruiting Station Fills May Quota

Sgt. Diane J. Roberts, in charge of the local WAC recruiting station, said yesterday that the quota assigned to the Cumberland office was filled 100 per cent in May.

Sgt. Roberts pointed out that WAC recruiting is continuing at usual despite the fact that recruits are no longer allowed to request specific assignments when they enter the service.

The local recruiter also said yesterday that Sgt. Ruth Baker, who was formerly stationed here, is now serving in the personnel section of the separation center at Fort General G. Meade.

Capt. Leo Travis Is Seriously Ill Of Desert Fever

Walter Reed Hospital; Loses 30 Pounds

A victim of desert fever, Capt. Leo G. Travis, 28, is reported in a serious condition in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Travis, 1121 Virginia avenue, who visited their son in the government hospital on Monday.

Capt. Travis contracted the fever while serving as flying instructor at Murco, Calif., and arrived in Washington last Friday after a five-day trip by train from the Pacific coast. Army doctors advised the train trip in preference to plane because the journey by air would have affected his breathing. Since becoming ill he is reported to have lost approximately thirty pounds and now tips the scales at 155 pounds.

Prior to returning from Europe last November, Capt. Travis was a wing bombardier on the staff of Brig. Gen. Walter R. Peck, Liberators combat wing commander, stationed in England.

He flew for three months from Africa and the Middle East and participated in the sailing low level attacks on the Ploesti oil fields in August, 1943, and the first air attack on Rome, in addition to numerous raids on Germany from bases in England.

Capt. Travis holds the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Air Medal with three clusters, a Presidential Unit Citation and the European theater ribbon with three bronze campaign stars. He attended Fort Hill high school and was a machinist for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad before entering the service on March 16, 1942. His father is a machinist in the local B. and O. shops.

Capt. Travis visited his parents last November upon his return from England and spent three weeks at Miami Beach, Fla., before returning to duty in California.

Applications for Canning Sugar Still Being Made, Board Officials Say

Although all issuance of canning sugar was discontinued here after midnight on May 31, applications for canning sugar are still coming in to the local War Price and Rationing board, it was stated yesterday by board officials.

The order to cancel issuance of canning sugar will be in effect here until such time as other instructions are received from the state OPA office in Baltimore.

Persons applying for canning sugar must certify that they will not use for any other purpose than canning, officials said.

The Cumberland soldier entered the army in April of last year and received his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C. He came to Panama for foreign service in November of 1944 and has been on duty here since that time at jungle areas and installation along the Panama Canal.

Four Births Are Reported Here

WAC Recruiting Station Fills May Quota

Sgt. Diane J. Roberts, in charge of the local WAC recruiting station, said yesterday that the quota assigned to the Cumberland office was filled 100 per cent in May.

Sgt. Roberts pointed out that WAC recruiting is continuing at usual despite the fact that recruits are no longer allowed to request specific assignments when they enter the service.

The local recruiter also said yesterday that Sgt. Ruth Baker, who was formerly stationed here, is now serving in the personnel section of the separation center at Fort General G. Meade.

OPA Meat Control Program Affects Farm Slaughtering

Farmers Are Asked To Sell More Animals on Hoof; May Get Permit

Aimed at preventing an increase in farm slaughtering of livestock and decreasing the amount of slaughter in non-federally inspected commercial establishments, the Office of Price Administration's meat control program is now in effect, Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said yesterday.

In line with the program, farmers are asked to sell more animals on the hoof, into legitimate channels and reduce their own slaughtering activities.

However, farmers who expect to slaughter or have animals slaughtered for them — after May 13, 1945 — for sale as meat in their neighborhoods or local communities are asked to obtain a Class 3 slaughterer's permit from the local War Price and Rationing board.

Limited to 6,000 Pounds

The OPA defines Class 3 slaughterers as "resident operators of farms who slaughtered livestock or had livestock slaughtered for them, from which they sold or transferred during 1944 not more than 6,000 pounds of dressed meat."

Forms for this registration can be obtained in person or by mail from the rationing board, and farmers are urged to get the permit before July 1 even though they may not be slaughtering until next fall or winter.

This permit, the OPA ruled, limits the sale of dressed meat by farm slaughterers in any quarter of this year to the same amount sold in the corresponding quarter of 1944, while farmers who sold no dressed meat in 1944 may, if they register with their rationing board, market up to 400 pounds this year.

In order to carry out the program, farmers are asked to charge no more than ceiling prices for the meat they sell, to collect the permit, to report the sale of meat, and to report their sales and account for trips collected to their rationing board each month.

Forms Are Available

Simple forms for reporting sales along with price ceiling lists and ration point tables will be supplied to farmers when they are issued their slaughterer's permit.

Farmers do not need a slaughterer's permit to dress meat or have dressed meat, but they do need a permit for consumption in their own households, according to the meat program. Farm families are asked to destroy all of their own unused ration points when they become out-of-date. Meat resulting from slaughter of a farmer's livestock, for consumption in his own household, is point free.

EXPERT INFANTRYMAN BADGE IS AWARDED PFC. JOHN T. TOPPER

HEADQUARTERS PANAMA CANAL DEPARTMENT—Pfc. John T. Topper, Cumberland soldier serving with the Panama Mobile Force and Security Command, has received the Expert Infantryman Badge—hard-won mark of the crack foot-soldier. Mobile Force Headquarters announces.

To qualify for the badge, Topper has passed grueling tests in every phase of infantry training from jungle combat and village fighting to first aid and field sanitation. The award entitles him to a $5 raise in his monthly pay.

Conducted in some of the roughest jungle terrain on Central America, the physical part of the test for the badge calls for the utmost in stamina and endurance. A typical requirement is the completion of a twenty-five mile forced march in eight hours.

The Cumberland soldier entered the army in April of last year and received his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C. He came to Panama for foreign service in November of 1944 and has been on duty here since that time at jungle areas and installation along the Panama Canal.

Ryan Wins Bronze Star

Capt. William H. Ryan, husband of Mrs. Virginia Downs Ryan, LaVale, received the Bronze Star, according to word sent to his wife.

A dentist attached to a medical unit, Capt. Ryan had dental offices on Virginia avenue before entering the army two years ago. He has been overseas seventeen months and was with the invasion troops in Normandy-D-Day. He also holds three battle stars.
